JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Military brass using staff cars illegally; Laird has back-up car for his back-up car; Defense Chief even delivers cheese in them.

Laird Denies Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has suspended U.S. air attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong area to see if North Vietnam backs off from its general offensive in South Vietnam, U.S. military sources reported today.

The thrust of the American air war returned to the South, and U.S. pilots flew more than 1,000 strikes there Monday and today.

Following Sunday's heavy raids on targets around Hanoi and Haiphong, Nixon ordered all air action suspended above the 20th parallel of latitude, 60 miles south of Hanoi, the Saigon sources said.

However, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today in Washington there is "no substance" to the report of attacks being suspended north of the 20th parallel. He said air strikes were continuing in North Vietnam, but did not specify how deep the raids were.

The Saigon informants said only a handful of strikes were flown Monday and today north of the demilitarized zone and all of these were below the 19th parallel, 120 miles south of Hanoi.

Informed of Laird's remarks in Washington, the informants here who first reported the suspension reconfirmed their information and said they stuck by it.

"The Presiden is deliberately holding off after Sunday's strikes in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas to see what North Vietnam is going to do," said one source. "But further bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has not been ruled out. It depends on what North Vietnam does."

The sources said the raids on Hanoi and Haiphon were political in nature, intended as a warning to Hanoi to pull back its offensive in South Vietnam.

"When you knock a guy down," said one source, "you don't want to stomp on him.

Nixon apparently wants to wait and see whether he is going to get up and continue to fight or walk away."

Military sources said there were no signs of any enemy withdrawals from the battlefields to which political significance could be attached.

LARRY CARP, St. Louis, candidate for state treasurer, campaigning in Sikeston yesterday.

Candidate Urges Ban On Campaign Gifts

A conflict of interest can be eliminated by candidates for state treasurer, if they refuse to accept contributions from banks and bank officials, according to Larry Carp of St. Louis county, candidate for the Democratic nomination to that office.

The state treasurer has one major job, Carp says, and that's to provide the maximum return on the state's money. State law allows the money to be invested only in U.S. Treasury bonds or in Missouri banks.

Most men seeking the office are bankrolled by the same financial institutions which stand to gain most from their election, Carp charged. The only way to solve the problem, he adds, is for office- seekers to reject contributions from banks.

Carp has asked his major opponents, E. J. (Lucky) Cantrell and James Spainhower, to reject financial aid from banks, but so far, he says, they haven't replied.

Carp says he will reveal his expenditures and the names of his contributors 30 days before the election, not 30 days after, as state laws require. "It doesn't do the voter any good to see the information after the election," he says.

Carp, an attorney, is making his first bid for the office. In 1960 he was a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in the second district. He long has been active in the Democratic Party and was the coordinator for the National McGovern Commission for Missouri and two other states in 1969.

He is a former assistant chief Counsel for the U.S. Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights. He spent two years with the United Nations in New York, France and Switzerland.

Carp was in Sikeston yesterday seeking voter support and meeting banking officials seeking ideas on efficient operation of the treasurer's office.

Carp says he has a seven-point program which he feels will revamp the office and remove the cloud of scandal hanging over it.

Carp says if elected he would initiate a mandatory system of bidding for state funds by Missouri banks. This would require banks to tell him how much interest they wilpay on state funds. By requiring bids for the state money, Carp said, he could remove the "political coloration" from the decision of where the money goes.

Carp would also seek an equitable geographical distribution of funds, throughout the state, rather than having them pile up in a few areas.

Carp says he would invest state funds in low- economy areas, so banks would have funds to use as working capital Carp says this program was used successfully in Illinois by Adlai Stevenson III when he was that state's treasurer, and resulted in a larger number of loans being made available in low- income areas.

Carp says he would also use the state funds as an incentive for banks to stimulate the economy of their respective communities by making loans available.

Other planks in Carp's platform include removing the patronage system by putting employes of the treasurer's office on a merit program. This is about the only way the office will attract bright, skilled young employes to the office, he says.

Carp says he would institute an open door policy; that means no meetings would be barred to the press.

"When you're dealing with the public money," he says, "there should be no secrets."

He also plans to begin a daily report on the office's activities. It would be available to anyone for the asking, he says, so each could see where the money is going.

Driver Says Forced To Take Trip

SCOTT CITY — An Olive Branch, Miss., man told police yesterday he was forced to drive to Scott City by a hitchhiker he picked up in White Haven, Tenn.

W.C. Bourland said he was driving his pickup truck from Olive Branch to West Memphis, Ark., when he picked up the hitchhiker. The man then stuck his hand in his pocket and ordered Bourland to drive on. Bourland said he thought the man had a gun.

When Bourland reached I-55, the man told him to drive north, until he was about one-quarter mile south of Scott City. The man then bound Bourland to the steering wheel and left him. Bourland said the man took $20 from him in Arkansas.

Bourland described the man as in his late 20s or early 30s, about six feet tall, 180 pounds, with long hair and a chest length beard, and wearing a light T-shirt and bluejeans.

Police and sheriff's offices are searching for the man.

Charge Filed In Gunplay

CHARLESTON — A charge of felonious assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon was filed Monday afternoon against Monroe Sharp, 67, of Charleston.

Sharp is accused of firing two shots from a .22 caliber rifle at Andrew Mays, 64, Charleston.

The men were reported by authorities to have argued over money Sharp owed Mays.

The incident occurred Saturday night on a South Locust Street.

Sharp will appear in magistrate court Thursday.

Apollo Faces New Problems

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A guidance system problem that temporarily locked the Apollo 16 command ship in one position was solved today, but the astronauts were awakened more than an hour early to wrestle with radio antenna trouble.

Schools Rate High, Face Problems

The Sikeston school system received an excellent rating from the North Central Evaluation Committee, but is not without its faults, according to Neil Aslin, of Columbia, who headed the committee.

The committee evaluated the high school in February. Aslin, a professor of education at the University of Missouri, discussed the report with the school board last night at the Ramada Inn.

Aslin said, the school system can be improved. It will be difficult to maintain the present standards in the future, he said.

One problem is the diversity of the student body, which ranges from the superior student to the low-intelligence student, from the academically inclined to the poorly motivated, and the division between black and white students.

"This is no criticism," Aslin said, "this is a plus." But, he added, it provides a challenge to the people who operate the program. They must find a way of developing a cement to hold these divergent groups together so the community will not disintegrate.

One of the strengths of the school system, Aslin said, is the breadth of the program — the wide range of classes and opportunities available to student but the challenge, Aslin said, will be in maintaining the excellence of the program.

He said the level of training of the teachers has deteriorated since he was last here. There are fewer teachers with masters degrees, he said, than in comparable schools elsewhere.

There has also been an erosion of support for the school among students and community, Aslin said. This he added, could spell trouble in the future.

The school facilities are very good, Aslin said, but they were built for half the number of students now attending. The result of the added students, he said, is crowding in some central facilities, such as hallways and the cafetorium. The diversity of the student body would be less of a problem, if the crowding was not so extensive, he said.

Aslin said the administrative staff is doing a remarkable job, but faces a herculean task. They are so busy with day to day problems, that they don't have the time or the energy to think about the future, he said.

A solution, Aslin said, is to add people, who will complement the staff. Those people should be able to handle some of the problems that normally burden the administrators, he said.

"We have loaded these men with so many problems, there is no way they can spend more time on instructional leadership," he said.

It is up to the school board to create a situation that will attract and maintain highly professional people within the school system, Aslin said.

He said that Sikeston has done well in the past but he doesn't know about the future.

Sam Harbin, superintendent of education, said the board has begun considering recommendations of the committee, and probably will begin acting on some of them in the near future.

"What the report tells us," he said, "is that we have a good school system, but that our problems are no worse than anywhere else."

NEIL ASLIN, of Columbia, chairman of the North Central Evaluation Committee which inspected Sikeston Schools in January, offers the school board insights into the committee's reports. Seated behind him is Board President Phil Barkett.

East Prairie Woman Slain

EAST PRAIRIE — Mrs. Lillie Braden, 60, was shot at 6:20 p. m. Monday and died two hours later of internal injuries in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Authorities are holding her former husband, Joseph W. Braden, 74, and they said a charge of first degree murder was expected to be filed today.

According to Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Mrs. Braden was in the yard of her home, 102 Lombardy Drive, when a man drove by in his automobile and fired two shots from a 30-06 rifle. She was shot once in the left hip.

Braden surrendered to authorities in city hall at 6:25 p. m. He gave no reason for the shooting.

Mrs. Robbie Helen Gregory of East Prairie, witnessed the incident, according to Simmons. She was driving by the house and saw the man point a gun out of a car window.

The body is in Shelby Funeral Home.

Mrs. Braden was born Feb. 14, 1912, in Clay County, Ark., and had lived in Mississippi county 27 years. She was a member of First Christian Church of East Prairie.

Surviving are one son, J. W. Braden, Jr., of Blytheville; one daughter, Mrs. Lola Givens, Cape Girardeau; one step sister, Mrs. Edith Woods, Maplewood; four grandchildren.

Friends may call after 5 p.m. today at Shelby Funeral Home. Services will be 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Shelby Chapel with the Rev. Orby Beard, Cape Girardeau, and the Rev. Lee Erwin, pastor of First Christian Church, East Prairie, officiating.

Burial will be in Oak Ridge Cemetery in Kennett.

Seaman Saved From Drowning

CHARLESTON — Julian Cathy, a seaman aboard a Coast Guard boat stationed at Hickman, Ky., is in good condition in Missouri Delta Community Hospital today after falling into the Mississippi River yesterday.

Cathy said he slipped and fell into the river, struck the bottom of the boat and was knocked unconscious about 6 p.m. near Buffalo Island. Three other crewmen on the boat, Bill Creacy, Dwight Young, and Glen Phillips, pulled him from the water. The Coast Guard vessel was working among buoys.

He was brought ashore at the Semo Grain Elevator in Charleston and taken to the hospital by ambulance. Attendants reported Cathy went into shock, stopped breathing, and required artificial resuscitation.

Council Hears Of Truck

DEXTER — Fire Chief Al Banken reported to the City Council Monday night on progress of the new fire truck being built and said it should be finished by July. Before then he will go to Springfield for a final inspection.

The council approved an ordinance providing the street on the north side of South Main, running from Walnut to Locust, will be designated as a fire lane and parking will be prohibited, except for fire and police vehicles.

A letter from Harry Jennings of the housing authority board requested the council approve Bill Bailiff as prospective board member to replace Howard Hill. The council approved the request.

The board agreed to purchase new signs for police cars and to pay for summer uniforms for policemen.

Mayor Willis Conner read a letter from the city's liability insurance company reporting two persons have sued the city in the past year due to falls on sidewalks. Because of these claims, the policy is subject to cancellation if additional suits, are filed.

Alderman James Williams was appointed to study Dexter sidewalks and repairs needed and to report to the council by May 10.

3 Quit Diehlstadt Police Department

DIEHLSTADT — Chief of Police Grover Morrow and Deputies Bobby Chappell and Kenneth Belt resigned from their posts as volunteer policemen last night after a meeting of the town board in which L.C. Allen, 80, member of the board, was elected chief of police.

Mayor Paul Norman said today a majority of the board, including Allen, James Howard and Lawrence Burton, did not approve of Morrow, also a board member, as chief of police and maintained a town as small as Diehlstadt did not need a three-man police force.

Norman said Morrow, Chappel and Belt have served as volunteers with no pay, have furnished their own cars and have not been reimbursed for mileage.

"Every community, large or small," Norman said, "should have law enforcement and city ordinances have to be enforced. But with the situation as it is, we may be forced to take the issue to the people."

Grocery Store Changes Hands

BENTON -- Monroe and Marie Bollinger sold the M & M Grocery Store, route 77, east of Benton, to Lola Mae Holland and Ann Hagar, both of Morley.

The Bollingers owned and operated the store six years.

The new owners will rename the store the H & H Grocery. They took over operations Monday.

Rotary Fetes Birthday With Growth Challenge

The Rotary Club was challenged to future growth last night in a celebration of its 25th anniversary devoted mostly to recollection.

The challenge came from the club's first president, Dr. Frank Sisson, a Phoenix chiropractor and past Rotary district governor.

"It is service to others that measures success," Dr. Sisson reminded more than 100 Rotarians, their wives and guests at the Ramada Inn. "Working together will assure it."

In the candle lighted room decorated with spring flowers, the speaker recalled how "25 years ago 22 men entered on an adventure in service."

Two of the 22 continue as members of the club. They are S. F. Duckworth and Chip Schmerbauch.

G. W. Allers, Flat River, was Rotary district governor then. He and his wife attended last night's banquet.

A candle lighting ceremony in the darkened room was a highlight of last night's silver anniversary observance. Spinning the Rotary wheel backward, Dr. Sisson gave the names of each club president and told about projects during the administration of each. A candle was lighted by Club President Pat Jones for each.

"Increasing the tax base for Sikeston, which then had a population of 10,000, was the club's first project," the speaker recalled of 1946-47.

Dog Problems On Rise In New Madrid

NEW MADRID — Dogs and garbage were the main topic of discussion at the city council meeting Monday night.

In a summary of dog catcher activities over 17 months the council noted that 1,032 stray dogs had been destroyed and an average of nearly 60 per month with no apparent decrease in dogs running loose.

The annual licensing and vaccinations of dogs last week produced only 183 dogs and in past years more than 300 were licensed.

The council decided that many dog owners were failing to comply with the license law and that unlicensed dogs would be picked up and owners fined.

Delbert Brown and Don Mattingly of Conran presented the board with a proposal for a contract for trash and garbage disposal which would comply with state and federal regulations. The plan called for a charge of $2.50 per month for residential and $3.50 per month for business owners with the trash and garbage being picked up once each week at residences and twice weekly at businesses.

The proposal was tabled by the board for future consideration.

In other business, the council authorized a letter to the Federal Communications Commission requesting two radio licenses for use at the power plant and the adjacent port of New Madrid.

May 8-13 was set for the annual pitch-in cleanup week.

A request by Sam Hedgepeth that an electrical guy wire at the rear of his office be relocated to allow room for parking space was approved.

Payments totaling $790,320.63 for a power plant construction were approved. Construction payrolls for $194,917.70 for April 7 and $189,112.75 for April 14 were approved.

Subdivision On Agenda

The city planning and zoning commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Administrative Building on North New Madrid.

The agenda includes a proposed subdivision north of Murray Lane between Keith-McCord and Clayton subdivisions.

Two Arrests

Police today announced two arrests, both on charges of public intoxication:

James C. Pind of Gideon and Willie Pettis of Benton.

Beal Will Head Delta Council Drive

Clem Beal

Clem Beal, vice president of the Bank of Sikeston, has been named chairman of Missouri Delta Council's membership and nominating committee by the board of directors.

He said that the campaign would be in two areas. The already formed five-county area of Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Scott would enter into a campaign stage with an organizational stage in Cape Girardeau, Bollinger, Butler, Ripley and Stoddard. The campaign in the latter five-county areas scheduled to peak prior to the first annual meeting scheduled in Kennett, during June.

State Joins Ozark Region

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes announced Monday the entire state of Missouri now is a part of the Ozarks economic development region, eligible for federal development funds.

In the past 44 southern and southwestern Missouri counties were included in the region along with some counties in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The other states have discussed a request that their entire states be included in the development region but have not made a formal application, Hearnes said.

He made the request for Missouri to the secretary of commerce with the approval of the other governors in the region. In addition, the four governors have invited the states of Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana to join Ozarks economic development region.

Howardville Okays Bonds

HOWARDVILLE — Voters Monday unanimously approved two sewer bond issues totaling $81,000 by a vote of 221.

Ward one voters cast 124 ballots, and ward two tallied 97.

The approved proposals are for issuance of $7,000 general obligation bonds and $74,000 revenue bonds to construct and equip sewer system, including treatment plant, land purchase and sewage lagoon.

A federal grant has been approved for $121,000 to aid in the cost of a new $202,000 system.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

IT'S NOT ENOUGH,
MR. PRESIDENT

In response to a plea that President Nixon intervene on behalf of the captive nations while he is in Moscow, a "canned" reply is being sent out by the White House; a reply not from the President, but from the U. S. Department of State.

The form letter reply assures the recipient that "We strongly disapprove of the gestures by Soviet and other Communist regimes on religious groups to prevent the practice and growth of religion ... Official anti-religious attitudes have not eased in the past years ... We believe that private groups and individuals have an important role to play in publicizing the plight of Christians in Communist countries."

Which is all very well; we, too, think that it is important for folks here in the U.S.A. to publicize the persecution of religion throughout the Soviet empire. And it is gratifying to know that the State Department "strongly dissapprove," although it is puzzling that they should substitute a mamby-pamby term, "pressures," for ruthless persecution. And it is most encouraging that our government apparently has not been fooled by Soviet propaganda alleging that they have "eased" their anti-religious campaigns.

But that's not enough, Mr. Nixon. People have been writing, asking that you intervene directly, while you are in Moscow, in behalf of those suffering persecution for religious beliefs behind the iron curtain. The packaged response is not a reply, it is an evasion of the question.

If you have written to the President, do so again; if you have not, do so now. Ask him for a specific answer to a specific question; "Will you, on behalf of the American people, convey to the Soviet dictators the grave concern we have for our fellows in faith in Communist countries; Will you ask that they be allowed to hold their worship services in peace, that they be allowed to print and possess the Scriptures in their native languages, and that they not be persecuted for worshiping and praising God."

Letters to the President do count. Your letters help him to know of your wishes and what you want him to do. That's the way a free country works.

Governor Hearnes has added another block to the successful passage of the bond issue which he is advocating to build transportation in Kansas City and St. Louis and airports. I believe that it's a terrible mistake for him to try to take the gas tax money for that purpose. He had an opportunity to sign a 2 cent a gallon gas tax bill and he vetoed it. Of course, he realizes now that it was a mistake to veto it, but that's the way he is and I don't know whether I will scold him or not, but I think he is advocating a failure.

BRADLEY
BOWS OUT

Very likely Bill Bradley will be off to a better start in Missouri politics by not running for state treasurer than by running, especially if he follows his announced plan to campaign for the Democratic slate. Mr. Bradley would have come into the campaign too late and with too little experience in state affairs; moreover, he would face a good Democratic candidate in James Spainhower. As a former all-state athlete, Rhodes schol[illegible]nd now a professional basketball star, Mr. Brad[illegible] not unknown in his native state, and his education and interest should serve him well in politics in the future. Right now, though, he has to get the ball down the court before he can put it in the basket.

THEY MUST LEARN TO USE WORDS

We are not among those who are constantly critical of our schools because we have great respect for the dedicated teachers who must deal with both the eager learner and the dullard in classes. But ask any businessman who hires them, and chances are he will tell you that too many public school graduates can't spell, know little if anything about grammar, and are unable to write simple sentences.

Although we've felt some stories we've heard are somewhat exaggerated, now some facts and figures are available. They were put together by professional investigators of the National Assessment of Educational Progress at the request of some concerned parents and businessmen.

Kenneth Rabben, a Copley education writer, in analyzing the study, wrote: "There's a fantastic lack of knowledge of spelling, grammar, punctuation, and word choice and order among members of the four groups tested -- 9, 13, 17 -year olds, and adults from 26 to 35."

A part of the test included writing brief themes, or essays. About 29 per cent of the adults refused to take part in this exercise. Sixty per cent of those who did made spelling errors. But 61 per cent of their papers were free of word choice errors.

The study shows that the few adults able to produce high-quality written English owe it more to reading newspapers and advertising than classroom instruction.

Over 70 per cent of the teenagers produced misspellings. More than half chose incorrect words. They employed only the most commonplace expressions and usage.

Nine-year-olds "showed almost no mastery of basic writing mechanics," the judges reported.

Obviously some drastic steps by the educational establishment are called for.

On the other hand, we suspect that the majority of deficiencies exposed in the study were recorded by crowded urban schools where teaching of late has been difficult -- and hazardous.

What America owes to our youngsters is a sound basic education in the effective use of their own language.

A LITTLE PEEK-A-BOO
AT SEX

Now we know. Sex reared its ugly head in the world about one billion years ago.

Dr. J. William Schopf, a 30-year-old geology professor and paleobiologist with the University of California. Los Angeles, bases the claim on his investigations of fossilized plants found in rocks in central Australia.

The feelings of women liberationists notwithstanding, he ranks the beginning of sexual processes on earth second in importance only to the beginning of life itself two billion years or so earlier.

The first reproductive process on nature's evolutionary ladder was mitosis, in which a parent cell divides itself into two daughter cells identical to the parent.

In the later process, meiosis, involving the combination of male and female cells, the sexually produced offspring has a genetic make-up different from that of either parent but combining traits of both.

Meiosis provided the basis for a huge number of new genetic recombinations. Natural selection enabled the rapid spread of advantageous mutations, leading to the evolution of our present diversity of plant and animal life.

Some plant and lower animal forms still reproduce by means of mitosis. But, genetically at least, it is a rather monotonous method, says Schopf.

LASER IS LIFT
FOR TEXTILES

A new development in the textile industry offers dramatic proof of how it is only through increased productivity and ability to win customers, not through protective tariffs, that American manufacturers will be able to compete against foreign rivals.

The development is the use of the laser to cut fabric for ready-to-wear garments. Guided by a computer, the beam is used to vaporize a single layer of cloth on a conveyor belt, resulting in a cleaner cut than is made by a knife.

Under present methods, a knife is used to cut as many as 100 layers of cloth at a time. But cutting accuracy lessens with many layers. Cloth is wasted, increasing material costs.

By cutting one layer at [illegible]me in rapid-fire order, not only does the laser increase efficiency but it promises to make it possible for manufacturers to provide customer-ordered materials and styles in quantities as small as one and still make a profit. This should mean greater job security for the 1.5 million workers in the textile industry, as well as better clothes for the consumer.

Cooking cabbage just a short time is the secret for success. Cabbage should be cooked in a small amount of boiling salted water. Shredded cabbage will take only 3 to 10 minutes; quarters take 10 to 15 minutes. Leave the cover off the first two minutes of cooking time and cover to finish cooking. In this way, cabbage will be thoroughly cooked, will be a good green color and will have very little odor.

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A recent study showed the Chicago driver sits in traffic jams longer than motorists of any other city.

Besides the usual reason—repairs, accidents and bad weather—there are a number of phenomena that exist with increasing irritation on all expressways.

They include the gaper's block. This phenomenon occurs with frustrating frequency in Chicago. It usually occurs when the driver is already late for work or dinner but the lanes are open and traffic is zipping right along.

Suddenly, the lines begin to slow. The weather is perfect, the motorist reasons, and the road repairs were completed last year. It must be a bad accident or a temporary delay.

A half-hour and a quartermile later, the motorist reaches a point where two cars with nicked fenders are parked on the apron. A police car is behind them and the blue light is attracting gapers.

Sometimes, there is nothing. A quick glance at the traffic piling up in the other direction lets the driver know that the fender-bender occurred in the opposite lanes.

Then there is the crawling cop.

The crawling cop usually drives in the center lane at 45 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Only bold motorists positive their speedometers are accurate dare pass the patrol. For everyone who passes, three hesitate. Before long the lanes are backed up and somewhere a mile back some driver is wondering how the traffic can be so bad at 10 p.m.

Finally, the crawling cop slips into an exit ramp and those bringing up the rear at 30 miles an hour never know why they were a half-hour late getting home.

Finally, there is the exact change toll booth dilemma.

There is first of all the feeling of worthlessness that overwhelms the driver who pulls up to the exact change booth and discovers he has no exact change. This leads to his sheepish appearance in front of a line of glowing chrome grills as he walks across to the manned booths.

Secondly, there is the driver who didn't know he was heading for the exact change booth and makes a sudden 90-degree sweep across six lanes.

The most mind-boggling of the toll booth dilemmas is the driver who lets his child fling the change from the back window. Invariably he winds up crawling under the car looking for the dimes that didn't hit the basket.

EXPORT MARKET
HURT BY FEDERAL
RESTRICTIVE ACTION

The decline in U. S. technological pre-eminence in many industrial fields points up the need for a "new form of government-industry partnership," according to the National Association of Manufacturers.

Dr. Willard M. Bright, testifying for the NAM as chairman of its Science-Technology Committee, before a House subcommittee, said such a partnership would help counteract the increasing foreign competition faced by America industry.

Antitrust Questioned -- Dr. Bright, who is president and chief executive officer of the Kendall Company, Boston, told the subcommittee that "the zeal of antitrust practices and threats in this country must delight our competitors abroad who do not labor under similar handicaps."

The NAM witness said that government-industrial cooperation in Japan for example, is "an economic strength that permits its technology to develop in a protected home market and to be advantageously exported as products and as technology."

"A similar program should be examined for the United States," he said, "perhaps in combination with less antitrust activity."

Prices Hurt Exports -- Dr. Bright said that the advantage provided American industry by the nation's technological sophistication is threatened by rising prices and wages. "Our greatest international asset has been weakened at the bargaining table by the pressure on costs," he said.

Foreign imports are making it unprofitable to maintain production in many U. S. factories, he pointed out, adding that when this happens "jobs go out the window."

Dr. Bright said that imports are fine "as long as our government is successful in gaining agreements that we can enter foreign markets on a more equitable basis."

MATTER OF ECONOMICS

Ostensibly, the primary purpose of legislating major changes in the federal tax laws is to establish greater equity in the tax system. The idea is to avoid excessive taxation of any segment of taxpayers while unduly favoring others. Largely, through a misunderstanding of this basic principle of taxation, proposals have been made to increase the taxes levied against the U. S. petroleum industry. The facts do not justify such an increased levy.

Some of these facts are stressed in a statement by Mr. Frank N. Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute. They show that in 1966, the total domestic taxes on the oil industry's earnings, operations and property were nearly $2.5 billion -- an increase of $500 million over the previous year. This did not include gasoline or other petroleum product taxes, which amounted to another $8 billion. The petroleum industry's direct tax bill amounts to about 5.1 cents tax for every dollar of revenue. As to profits, the after-tax earnings in the oil industry average 10.1 per cent of invested capital. For all manufacturing, these after-tax earnings amounted to 10.8 per cent.

IT is clear the petroleum industry is no favored taxpayer. In Mr. Ikard's words, if the industry's taxes are increased thru cutting or eliminating such tax law provisions as percentage depletion: "The costs of both the raw materials and the products made from petroleum would be higher. It's a simple matter of economics that the increased costs would have to be passed on to the consumer."

The urban theft problem making newspaper headlines is just as rampant along the roadside, according to reports and statistics by Pinkerton's Inc."Although many of the roadside thefts are petty," says John A. Willis, Vice President-Security for the nation's oldest and largest security firm "thieves are robbing vacationers of camping equipment, portable TV sets, car radios, tape sets and cameras. They call the practice 'clouting.'

PICK YOUR
GRAVY TRAIN

After four months of research, a member of Congress inserted in the Congressional Record a listing of federal assistance programs of one kind or another -- all 1,315 of them. As the congressman noted, his is probably the most complete list of federal programs ever compiled, but he says "...I have reason to believe that another 100 to 200 programs exist..." As a result of his research, the congressman has proposed a "Program Information Act" which would require the President to publish an annual catalog of all federal aid programs and update it monthly. By the time the average citizen perused the catalog to find out which gravy train was best suited to his needs, he would likely be past help of any kind. However, from the standpoint of a taxpayer, such a catalog might indeed be helpful -- as a guide to just how a womb to tomb welfare state operates -- and why it costs so much.

DEBT FEEDS INFLATION

Much to do is being made about rising prices, and rightfully so, but the wrong culprit is feeling the lash. The farmers and ranchers who grow our food are not the cause of inflation and the resulting rise in prices. Neither are the supermarket profits, which vary from 2 % to less than 1 % on sales. We are paying less percentagewise for our food than ever before, as wages and other costs continue to mushroom.

For those whose income does not climb in proportion to the inflation, the burden grows ever more wearisome. The chief cause of the burden is inflation of money and credit, which has damaged the value of every dollar each person earns or saves. The chief cause of inflation is the skyrocketing public debt.

The U.S. government is in debt by a staggering $425 billion, a sum so huge as to have little meaning to the human mind. Our debt is $87 billion more than all the other 131 nations' debts combined.

Just about half the U.S. public debt, or $212.9 billion, can be attributed to foreign aid, including interest on what was borrowed to give away, between the years 1946 and 1971. Office-holders and office-seekers promise to cut foreign aid and lead us to believe it is down to virtually nothing. Not so. During the year of 1972 at least 98 nations will be getting some of the $24.5 billion authorized and in the "pipeline" for foreign aid. Our diplomats have never bought a single friend with all these billions. Much of the money has actually been used against us. It is past time to stop this foolish waste. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A few months ago, the Air Force brass decided it wanted Joe Alsop, the famed columnist and friend of generals, to write a friendly story.

Orders went down to the Pentagon garage for a military staff car, complete with escort officer, to pick up Alsop, take him where he wanted to go and give him "VIP" treatment.

Regulations forbid the use of Pentagon cars except "in the actual performance of official duties" by military personnel. No one is to be chauffeured around on personal business.

Yet Alsop's free ride was nothing unusual, despite the apparent violation of regulations. The Pentagon's auto fleet has become a fabulously expensive, 24-hour chauffeur service for the military bigwigs and their buddies.

Probably the most chauffeured man in Washington is the bald eminence of the Pentagon, Defense Secretary Mel Laird, who not only keeps a gleaming Cadillac at the ready but also demands another rented limousine as a back-up car.

The rental car sits in the motor pool day after day in case something goes wrong with the official limousine. In this event, emergency measures are taken to assure that Laird will not be subjected to the indignity of riding in a common taxicab. While the regular Cadillac is being repaired, the Pentagon panjandrum rides in the back-up car, and still another plush car is rented to serve as the back-up limousine for the back-up limousine.

Laird is driven about by black-uniformed civilian chauffeurs who earn so much overtime waiting for him that one of them almost reached Laird's financial bracket. A Pentagon bookkeeper told us the chauffeur earned $36,000 after all the overtime had been added up for one recent year.

--LAIRD'S CHEESE RUN--

Another important service the Pentagon motor pool performs for Laird occurs each year at Christmastime. For days, several staff sedans make the rounds of official Washington deliverying packages of Christmas cheese to friends and associates of the big cheese himself.

A staff sedan was also used last December to pick up Jack Mills, a tobacco lobbyist, to haul him home for his clothes and rush him to Andrews Air Force base so he could join Laird on an all-expense paid junket to the Caribbean.

Mills explained that Laird is an old friend and "trusts" him and enjoys his company. "It was a treat for me to be with a great man," Mills told my associate Brit Hume.

Last Christmas, the motor pool also dispatched an Army van to Ft. Belvoir, Va., to pick up a special Christmas tree for the Army Chief, jut-jawed Gen. William Westmoreland, who is a stickler for regulations except when they affect him. The seats were removed from the van so that the tree would not be pushed out of shape during the trip.

The heavy traffic at the motor pool has created a shortage of available cars. The Pentagon's response has been not to buy more cars at the huge official discount, but to rent extra cars at $15 a day.

Last year, the bill for car rentals in the Pentagon motor pool came to more than $42,000. Many of the rental cars are Cadillacs and Chryslers, and the rental agencies don't like them to be run on regular gas. The Pentagon obligingly operates the motor pool strictly on high-test gas.

--$2 MILLION
GAS BILL--

Regular gas is bought in such huge quantities by the military, it costs only about a dime a gallon. But the high-test is purchased almost nowhere in the armed forces except for the Pentagon; therefore, the discount is much smaller. Result: it is twice as expensive. Using high-octane instead of regular last year cost the taxpayers about $2 million.

Meanwhile, despite the extravagant waste, the abuse of the limousine fleet continues unabated. Civilian officials are just as insensitive to regulations as the brass hats themselves.

"Personnel will not be authorized to use government-owned vehicles for trips between home or places of duty and Dulles or Friendship Airports," the regulations say.

Yet, Deputy Air Force Undersecretary Robert Naka, for example, was met at Dulles Airport by a military car after flying in from Los Angeles last December 14.

The same day, Edward Sheridan, a deputy assistant defense secretary, was picked up at home and taken to Dulles Airport. He acknowledged he had made the trip in a military car on other occasions.

For special occasions, the line-up of Pentagon glory wagons is enough to take a taxpayer's breath away. A parade of 57 rented limousines transported an army of big brass to the last Army-Navy game. And a grant total of 400 Pentagon cars were rented for $15 a day to whisk all the brass hats to the sundry soiree during the 1968 inaugural.

The military brass have come a long way since they were issued streetcar tokens for transportation back before World War II.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Meany Smokes Again: labor's high command summoned to plan tough national action early in May

WASHINGTON — Smoke now is spurting from George Meany's cigars as well as rhetoric. He's back in fighting shape. The other night the labor chief of chiefs said Phase Two reminded him of the balcony scene from Mussolini and the Piazza Venezia. Certainly not from Romeo and Juliet, judging from his mood. So he's hammering at the White House as prelude to another open offensive to smash the new seven-man public Pay Board.

There appears even to be a timetable for action. And the front will be the waterfront. Anything could happen. There could be a chain reaction from here to Moscow via New York and on the Far East via San Francisco.

Waterfronts watchers know that the key to President Nixon's trade summitry with the Soviets is really one man, the continent-hopping bantam Ted Gleason, president of the strategic International Longshoremen's Assn., (AFL—CIO).

"Teddy" not only is peacock proud of being one of the newest of national AFL-CIO vice presidents, he is "with Meany all the way." That solidarity could freeze most of the nation's ports solid-from the Great Lakes grain-loading ports and right on down the Mississippi as well as along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts . And you don't fly grain and soy beans, you "tanker" them. If no ships move, no $200 million a year grain deal with Moscow.

And Gleason wants much of it to cross the ocean in U.S. Freighters. The Soviets have other ideas. So the Longshoremen are a powerful private foreign policy force with which to reckon -- and consult. For days now since the return of Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz -- who believes labor should get itself some new leaders and has said so loud and clear -- Gleason and colleagues have been awaiting word from Henry Kissinger, or the other State Dept.

The union did hear, however, from another branch of government with which Meany hardly is enamored -- the Pay Board.

That's the crunch. The Board wants Gleason or some of his experts to come in April 21 and discuss their new contract which calls for a 14.9 per cent- wage-cost hike during the first year. The union says it's really about 7 per cent because its pier "gangs" now work 1,000 per cent swifter -- loading 300 tons an hour where once they trundled 30 tons in.

After the closed-door Pay Board conference will come a public hearing at 10 a.m. May 2 in the Commerce Dept. auditorium. Not all the drama is set there. For Meany has called the AFL-CIO's Executive Council for a two day session with the curtain rise scheduled for the same hour as the waterfront hearing across town. And the Longshoremen's high command is due to meet on May 5.

Nothing may happen. Just a lot of hot words flipped off the skillet towards the White House. The Pay Board may simply say Gleason is right and the union is entitled to its 14.9 per cent increase -- a figure which has been rejected by ultra left-wing West Coast dockers' boss Harry Bridges.

If so, Gleason and his dockwallopers will live happily ever after -- until the next contract.

But if the Pay Board shaves Gleason's bid, the smoke will pour more furiously from Meany's cigar and statements. Anything can happen. The nation's waterfronts will be struck. Since "Teddy" always is called on to whip up a sympathy strike to help other unions, he has many IOUs out. And he might call them in -- and unions elsewhere may walk out in sympathy along with the Western Dockers in strategy.

No one truly can estimate the cost of a long all-port maritime stoppage. The other night I got some figures on the losses suffered during the long, two-part West Coast dockers strike. These statistics must be solid. They came from that former hod carrier, my good friend Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

The strike cost in just 24 Western ports alone ran well over $2 billion.

"The losses in port service industries directly involved in the dispute," said Volpe, "were in the area of $8 million a week.

"The loss to the shipping industry was estimated at $3 million a week and the loss to the inland transportation companies, $5 million per week. Greater losses appeared in the wholesale and retail trade sectors -- $29 million per week -- and in the industrial and agricultural sectors of the economy --$48 million per week."

Volpe's figures for the 134-day strike appear to be the most valid -- but they don't include the aftermath. And it's just a hint of what could come if both unions close all ports. Then the showdown would come -- with the White House, with the Congress and no doubt with the public -- for the strike and counter strategy would become one of the crackling issues of the Presidential campaign.

Danforth To Seek New Term

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth announced Sunday he will seek re-election this fall.

It will be Danforth's third major campaign in four years. In 1968 he became the first Republican to win a top state office in more than 20 years. In 1970 he lost in his bid to unseat Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

What's The Law

Driver Takes Rap For Cow Behavior

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Mabel, a cow, was tired of chauvinistic bulls and just giving milk. What she really wanted was her freedom and the open road. Unfortunately, the open road she chose to roam was the same one on which Herbie was skylarking with his girl friend Doris.

Meeting head-on with Herbie's car, Mabel got the worse of the collision. As though she had been struck by a haymaker, the hayeater sank to the pavement unconscious.

As Herbie ran off for help, leaving his girl friend Doris standing perplexed on the side of the road, Mabel slowly began to come to. And, realizing how frought with unexpected dangers was the open road, she made a frantic dash for the security of her nearby pasture. In doing so, however, she shoved perplexed Doris into a deep gully. Badly hurt, she sued Herbie for the injuries.

"If he hadn't struck the cow in the first place," she complained in court," "I wouldn't have been dumped into the gully in the second place."

"That's ridiculous!" was Herbie's answer. "Sure I struck the cow. But , certainly, it 's not my fault it ran into Doris. After all, I can't be held responsible for the behavior of a discontended cow."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Herbie liable for Doris's being struck by the discontented cow?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the direct cause of Doris's injuries was due to Herbie's negligence; that it was a reasonable and probably reaction on Mabel's part to want to leave the scene of the accident as soon as possible. Her nasty departure, concluded the judge, was Herbie's responsibility. (Based upon a 1947 Wisconsin Supreme Court Decision)

Missouri Ban On ParochiaidUpheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday unanimously upheld the Missouri Constitution's ban on state aid to church-related schools.

The provision had been attacked by a group of families from the St. Louis area who said "secular humanism and "irreligion"] were being established in the public schools by eliminating references to God and religion.

The parents suggested that Missouri adopt a "tuition voucher" plan under which the state would provide assistance to the parents of children attending accredited private schools.

Turning down the appeal, the court affirmed a decision by a three-judge federal court in St. Louis approving the ban on state aid.

The St. Louis family had contended Missouri was inhibiting the right of children in church schools to exercise their freedom of religion.

"Under the present situation, those who choose nonpublic school education are in fact subsidizing those who choose public schools," the appeal said. "They contribute to the support of the public sch ools through the taxes they pay, thereby decreasing the burden on those choosing public schools."

Children's Calls Music To Grandma's Ears

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word to the grandmother who said she was tired of telephone calls from her grandchildren that went like this: "Just a minute, Grammy, the dog wants to talk to you." Then the dog would bark and the kids would giggle and Grammy was left hanging. Finally she concluded that the kids had left the phone and gone to play somewhere else.

I'm a Grammy, too, and I laughed when I read that column because I've had similar telephone calls. I've talked to dolls, listened to cats meow, and kissed skinned knees through the receiver to make them well. I've stood patiently while the kids dragged the fish tank to the phone so I could hear it gurgle. I've turned off the stew and listened to essays, original poems and piano recital numbers.

I love it when my daughter calls me and I hear one of the children shout, "If it's Grammy let me talk!" What a compliment to know that they delight in sharing their world with me! I wouldn't take a million dollars for those crazy phone calls.---Grandmas Are For Listening

Dear Gram: Thank you for a real heart-warmer. I've never been asked to listen to a fish tank, but I can tell you from personal knowledge just what a hamster sounds like on the phone!

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column someone wrote in about smokers who make life miserable for non-smoking co-workers. The person who wrote lives in Washington, D. C. and works for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In your reply you said new regulations to H. E. W. set up a special smoking area in the cafeteria and prohibited smoking in conference rooms, the auditorium, etc. You also said, "You can kiss Secretary Elliot Richardson for this one."

I have seen pictures of Elliot Richardson and he's quite attractive. Is he married? Do you know him well enough to give millions of people permission to kiss him? Please reply in print. The girls in the Pentagon are eager to know. ---File Cabinet Fillies

Dear Fillies: I have met Elliot Richardson. He is married and I withdraw the suggestion.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 24. I spent the first 21 years of my life in total hell because of my father. He is mentally deranged -- a split personality. I never knew when he would turn from a sweet, lovable person to a cruel, savage beast. He used to hit my mother for no reason, throw things at me, and I'm sure he tortured our pets although no one could ever prove it. It's a miracle that I didn't lose my mind when my mother died of leukemia. I was 17 at the time.

I was 20 when I met John. It was almost a story-book romance the way he rescued me from a lunatic father -- like a true knight in shining armor. We've been married nearly three years and have a dear little girl. The problem is that my mother -in- law keeps asking me why I don't invite my father over for Sunday supper. She can't understand why I don't include him in family or social affairs. Ann, I simply can't bring myself to tell her the truth. I'm scared to death of my father. He makes me physically ill. I don't want to be around him or have him near my little family. Lately my mother -in- law has been pressing. Please tell me what to say to her. I hate to be disloyal or sound dramatic. Help me please. -- B. In Nashville

Dear B.: You do not owe your mother -in- law an explanation. Simply evade the issue and change the subject. If she persists, simply tell her you have your reasons and you'd rather not discuss it.

What's the story on pot, LSD, cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful?

Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope On Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Cards Beat Bad Luck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Would you believe the St. Louis Cardinals could win a game in which Lou Brock was picked off in successive innings for the first time in his career, in which Joe Torre was forced out by an injury and in which the opposing pitcher belted a home run?

Al Santorini believes it, even though he probably has to pinch himself to fully realize that he picked up his first major league victory since April 13, 1970.

Monday's hard-earned triumph, 5-4 over Philadelphia, was the Cardinals' first of the young seata$i,o2ter two one-run setbacks. Elsewhere on an abbreviated major league baseball schedule, Houston whipped San Francisco 7-2, Los Angeles trounced Atlanta 8-3, Baltimore blanked the New York Yankees 4-0 and Cleveland zeroed Boston 4-0.

Santorini, the fifth St. Louis pitcher, came on in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, one out and the Cards nursing a 5-3 lead. He got a bad break when first baseman Donn Clendenon dropped pinch hitter Roger Freed's pop foul but the 24-year-old right-hander recovered to strike out Freed.

Larry Bowa's sharp single made the score 5-4 and left the bases jammed but Santorini retired Tim McCarver on a grounder to second for the final out. Santorini had a 1-8 record with San Diego in 1970, was 0-4 with the Padres and Cards last year and was tagged with the loss in the 1972 opener on Saturday.

"It's been a long time," sighed Santorini, but the victory was doubly sweet—his family came down from Union, N.J., and it was his father's birthday.

Brock, the Cards' inimitable base-stealer, was embarrassed in the first and second innings by Woodie Fryman, who picked him off both times. And Clendenon, in addition to his potentially damaging error, was run down trying to score from first base on a single by Jose Cruz in the first inning.

The Cards prevailed, despite all that adversity plus Fryman's second career home run, when Ed Crosby, Torre's replacement, greeted reliever Joe Hoerner with a leadoff single in the top of the ninth and Ted Simmons doubled him home with the tie-braker. Simmons eventually scored what proved to be the winning run on Dal Maxvill's sacrifice fly.

Torre aggravated a strained muscle in his lower back suffered in Sunday's game against Montreal.

A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants on their way to a repeat of their early 1971 runaway. After trimming Houston twice and grabbing a 2-0 lead Monday night on pitcher John Cumberland's fifth-inning single, they faltered and lost.

Doug Rader tied the score for the Astros in their half of the inning with a two-run homer and they took the lead in the sixth on run-scoring singles by Lee May and Bob Watson. May singled another run across before Rader cracked a two-run triple.

Two-run homers by Willie Davis and Manny Mota powered Los Angeles over Atlanta, which is having the pitching problems most experts predicted. Davis drove in a third run with an infield hit and Bill Singer, facing live hitters for the first time since March 12, hurled four perfect innings. He was bothered only by Darrell Evans' homer.

Brooks Robinson and winning pitcher Dave McNally rapped run-scoring doubles as Baltimore broke a scoreless game with three runs in the seventh and downed the Yankees. McNally, bidding for his fifth 20-game season, tossed a fourhitter.

Paul Blair opened the seventh with a single off Fritz Peterson and scored on Robinson's double as right fielder Rusty Torres fell down. McNally doubled the second run across and scored himself on Don Buford's single.

Milt Wilcox fired a two-hitter and Tom McCraw greeted reliever Bill Lee with a three-run homer in Cleveland's win over Boston. Wilcox, obtained from Cincinnati in an off-season trade, was locked in a scoreless battle with Ray Culp when Alex ohnson and Graig Nettles singled with two out in the eighth inning. Lee came in to face McCraw—lefty vs. lefty, you know—and McCraw pulled a 1-2 pitch

Croy Stars

MORLEY — The Advance Hornets won their second baseball game of the season to go with one loss by downing the Scott Central Braves, 6-4, Monday afternoon.

Darrell Croy gave up three hits, walked two, hit one and struck out eight in gaining his second win against no losses.

Mike Pobst took the loss for the Braves. The Braves pounded the hurler for nine safeties.

The Hornets took a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Braves fought back in the frame to take the lead, 2-1. Scott Central added another run to its lead in the third.

Advance tied the score 3-3 in the fourth but Scott Central quickly gained back the lead 4-3 in the bottom of the inning.

Scott Central didn't have the pitching to hold the Hornets. Advance took the lead by scoring two runs in the fifth. The Hornets added an insurance run in the seventh.

John Avance of Scott Central and Dennis Dunavan of Advance had doubles for the only extra base hits.

MONDAY'S STARS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BATTING—Doug Rader, Astros, drove in four runs with a homer and triple in Houston's 7-2 victory over San Francisco.

PITCHING—Milt Wilcox, Indians, blanked Boston on two hits 4-0, striking out eight.

Error Costly

CLARKTON — The Reindeer took advantage of a misplayed pop fly in the eighth to beat the Parma Pirates Monday afternoon in baseball, 3-2.

Wendy Wagner joined in a pitching duel with Dennis Duffell and Danny Stoelting. He was the victim of bad fielding and took the loss. Stoelting, who relieved Duffell in the fourth, was the winner.

Mike Garrard belted a home run in the fourth to get the Pirates out in front, 1-0. Clarkton came back in the sixth and scored two runs to take the lead on a two- run homer by Phil Delong. Parma tied the game in the seventh. Clarkton scored the winning run in the eighth when the pop fly was misplayed with the bases loaded and two out.

Chuck Bailey smashed two hits in three times at bat to lead the Reindeer. Garrard had two hits and scored both runs for Parma.

Baseball Tryouts

City baseball season openers are around the corner and Junior Babe Ruth Baseball President Arthur Bruce has called for tryouts tonight at VFW stadium at 7 p.m. for 13-15 year olds.

A 13- year- old all-star team will compete in the state tournament at Chaffee, Bruce said. Any 13- year- old who fails to make tryouts Monday may attend tonight's session.

BELL CITY — Jim Edmondson fired a two-hitter at the Cubs to give Coach Joe Scott's Oran Eagles a 4-1 win and the Eagles a 4-0 record for the year Monday afternoon.

The Eagles put together five hits to score their runs. Tropf and Britton got the hits for the Cubs.

Oran scored one run in the first and added another in the second. The Eagles added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth and Bell City scored its lone run in the seventh on two hits.

Edmondson is 1-0 for the year. Alenson took the loss for the Cubs.

Rams Show Power

SCOTT CITY — The Rams unleashed their most powerful baseball hitting attack of the season Monday in downing the East Prairie Eagles, 18-1.

The Eagles managed to get only one hit off Joe Hanschen in the first inning when they scored their lone run to lead briefly 1-0.

The Rams went to work on Larry Band, the Eagle hurler in the first plating three runs. The Rams added their fourth run in the second. The third inning proved to be a nightmare for the Eagles. The Rams had a merry-go-round going for awhile, scoring 10 times before the side could be retired. Leading, 14-1, the Rams crossed the plate four more times in the fourth.

I-SC had five men with two hits apiece in the game. Each team played its entire squad. The Rams entertain the Chaffee Red Devils Thursday afternoon.

Schoendienst Schedules Workouts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals is making hurried plans for extra workouts to make up for the 13-day player strike.

"I don't care if the players get tired — we have to go all over a lot of fundamentals to make up for the work that was undone," said Schoendienst.

As the strike ended Thursday the Redbird skipper was arranging for extra training after day games and before night games during a two-week road trip which starts Monday. He said workouts also would be held on three open dates during the trip.

Schoendienst said he is seeking permission to use the rival team's parks for the extra practices. The Cardinasl would reciprocate by offering visiting teams the use of Busch Stadium, he said.

The Cardinals have two home games scheduled with the Montreal Expos this weekend. They hit the road Monday for 11 games in 14 days.

About 52 million Americans, one in every four, bowled at least once last year, according to a survey conducted for the National Bowling Council

Lape Spoils No-Hitter

MATTHEWS — The Bernie Mules used superior hitting and pitching to demolish the Pirates Monday afternoon 10-0 in five innings of baseball.

Dell Walker came within a single of pitching a no-hitter. Lape spoiled his bid. Walker struck out nine Pirates and walked fine men.

Bernie socked 11 singles and the Pirates committee five errors. Bernie hit the jackpot in the third, scoring four runs and added five more in the fourth. It completed its scoring in the fifth with one run.

Wayne Griffin struck out five Mules and walked three.

Copeland Gains Medalist Honors

POPLAR BLUFF -- The Poplar Bluff golf Mules carried two double- header match Monday afternoon.

In the first match, the Mules defeated the New Madrid Indians, 160-187.

Going against Malden in the second match, the Mules downed the Greenwaves, 156-167.

Fred Copeland of New Madrid gained medalist honors in the first match with low score of 37. The remainder of the scoring for the Indians went with Clement Cravens shooting a 47, Cary Phillips following with 49, and Frank Phillips shooting a 54.

Poplar Bluff's scoring was headed by Brad Locke and David McMurray. Both shot 38s. John Pettet and Jim Hobbs followed with scores of 42 each.

In the second match the Mules' scoring was led by Locke and McMurray after both again shot low scores of 38 to gain the honor of medalists. Lynn Miller was close behind with 39, and Pete Godwin shot a 41.

Malden's achievements consisted of a leading mark of 39 shot by Ronnie Cohen. Mike Moll was running a close second with 40, with Bob Schoeppel and Greg Hampton, both shooting 44.

The Poplar Bluff Mules have a 4-1 season record.

Kegler's Korner

By HILDRED POOLE

Hello! Last week was a total disaster as far as bowling was concerned. I was completely off my mark, but maybe things will get better this week as it is the last week in both of the leagues I belong to.

Starting the 1st of April until the last week of May the largest W.I.B.C. National Bowling Tournament ever is being held in Kansas City, Mo. We have had several teams (of the more than 5,000 entered) from here that have gone or are going.

You probably heard that Norma Baker rolled the first 600 series in the Singles event but we also had another distinction. As the first out of town team to bowl, Elaine Krutilla got to lead the grand march out onto the lanes to roll in the team event. It was thought that she would have to carry a flag and from information I received she was ready, just how she planned to do it must remain a mystery as she had to carry her purse in one hand and her bowling bag in the other. It must have been a very grand march with her in the lead and Norma Baker in the rear. Wish I could have been there.

Dear Editor:

Tuesday evening, April 11, 1972, my wife and I were shopping at Penny's in Sikeston. While there, I lost my glasses and did not miss them until I was about half way home.

I called the store and requested a search to determine if the glasses could be found. After the call, I returned to the store and learned that my glasses had been found by an unidentified young lady who in turn, at the instructions of a clerk, had taken them to Station KMPL. A man with the initials of (D.D.T.) accepted the glasses, with some miss giving I am sure.

I wish to state that I sincerely appreciate the extra step these people took on behalf of a person they did not know. I certainly made my day and restored again my faith that people are good.

I will appreciate your printing this letter of gratitude.

Sincerely,
Mark L. Stoll

Tax Deadline Is Extended

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has extended the daily hours in its Missouri offices until the midnight Monday deadline for filing 1971 income tax returns.

District Director E.C. Coyle Jr., said Wednesday that all IRS offices in Missouri will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. today, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

He said the longer hours will allow taxpayers time to get assistance in preparation of the 1971 returns.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thoday is Tuesday, April 18, the 109th day of 1972. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1775, Paul Revere began his famous ride in Massachusetts to warn American colonists: "The British are coming."

On this date:

In 1847, U.S. Gen. Winfield Scott captured Cerro Gordo Hill in Mexico. It was the first point of resistance in Scott's march on Mexico City.

In 1906, an earthquake rocked San Francisco and touched off fires that nearly destroyed the city.

In 1942, in the Pacific war, U.S. bombers led by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle attacked Tokyo and other cities in Japan.

In 1945, American war correspondent Ernie Pyle was killed during fighting on an island off Okinawa.

In 1946, the League of Nations officially went out of existence.

In 1955, physicist Albert Einstein died in Princeton, N.J., at the age of 76.

Ten years ago: The United States presented a three- stage disarmament program at an international conference in Geneva.

Five years ago: South Vietnam proposed a withdrawal of troops from the demilitarized zone between South and North Vietnam to help create a climate for peace talks.

Thought for today: In the land of promise a man may die of hunger. Dutch proverb.

"WE MUST BE GETTING NEAR A WATER HAZARD."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Military brass using staff cars illegally; Laird has back-up car for his back-up car; Defense Chief even delivers cheese in them.

Laird Denies Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has suspended U.S. air attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong area to see if North Vietnam backs off from its general offensive in South Vietnam, U.S. military sources reported today.

The thrust of the American air war returned to the South, and U.S. pilots flew more than 1,000 strikes there Monday and today.

Following Sunday's heavy raids on targets around Hanoi and Haiphong, Nixon ordered all air action suspended above the 20th parallel of latitude, 60 miles south of Hanoi, the Saigon sources said.

However, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today in Washington there is "no substance" to the report of attacks being suspended north of the 20th parallel. He said air strikes were continuing in North Vietnam, but did not specify how deep the raids were.

The Saigon informants said only a handful of strikes were flown Monday and today north of the demilitarized zone and all of these were below the 19th parallel, 120 miles south of Hanoi.

Informed of Laird's remarks in Washington, the informants here who first reported the suspension reconfirmed their information and said they stuck by it.

"The Presiden is deliberately holding off after Sunday's strikes in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas to see what North Vietnam is going to do," said one source. "But further bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has not been ruled out. It depends on what North Vietnam does."

The sources said the raids on Hanoi and Haiphon were political in nature, intended as a warning to Hanoi to pull back its offensive in South Vietnam.

"When you knock a guy down," said one source, "you don't want to stomp on him.

Nixon apparently wants to wait and see whether he is going to get up and continue to fight or walk away."

Military sources said there were no signs of any enemy withdrawals from the battlefields to which political significance could be attached.

LARRY CARP, St. Louis, candidate for state treasurer, campaigning in Sikeston yesterday.

Candidate Urges Ban On Campaign Gifts

A conflict of interest can be eliminated by candidates for state treasurer, if they refuse to accept contributions from banks and bank officials, according to Larry Carp of St. Louis county, candidate for the Democratic nomination to that office.

The state treasurer has one major job, Carp says, and that's to provide the maximum return on the state's money. State law allows the money to be invested only in U.S. Treasury bonds or in Missouri banks.

Most men seeking the office are bankrolled by the same financial institutions which stand to gain most from their election, Carp charged. The only way to solve the problem, he adds, is for office- seekers to reject contributions from banks.

Carp has asked his major opponents, E. J. (Lucky) Cantrell and James Spainhower, to reject financial aid from banks, but so far, he says, they haven't replied.

Carp says he will reveal his expenditures and the names of his contributors 30 days before the election, not 30 days after, as state laws require. "It doesn't do the voter any good to see the information after the election," he says.

Carp, an attorney, is making his first bid for the office. In 1960 he was a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives in the second district. He long has been active in the Democratic Party and was the coordinator for the National McGovern Commission for Missouri and two other states in 1969.

He is a former assistant chief Counsel for the U.S. Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights. He spent two years with the United Nations in New York, France and Switzerland.

Carp was in Sikeston yesterday seeking voter support and meeting banking officials seeking ideas on efficient operation of the treasurer's office.

Carp says he has a seven-point program which he feels will revamp the office and remove the cloud of scandal hanging over it.

Carp says if elected he would initiate a mandatory system of bidding for state funds by Missouri banks. This would require banks to tell him how much interest they wilpay on state funds. By requiring bids for the state money, Carp said, he could remove the "political coloration" from the decision of where the money goes.

Carp would also seek an equitable geographical distribution of funds, throughout the state, rather than having it pile up in a few areas.

Carp says he would invest state funds in low- economy areas, so banks would have funds to use as working capital Carp says this program was used successfully in Illinois by Adlai Stevenson III when he was that state's treasurer, and resulted in a larger number of loans being made available in low- income areas.

Carp says he would also use the state funds as an incentive for banks to stimulate the economy of their respective communities by making loans available.

Other planks in Carp's platform include removing the patronage system by putting employes of the treasurer's office on a merit program. This is about the only way the office will attract bright, skilled young employes to the office, he says.

Carp says he would institute an open door policy; that means no meetings would be barred to the press.

"When you're dealing with the public money," he says, "there should be no secrets."

He also plans to begin a daily report on the office's activities. It would be available to anyone for the asking, he says, so each could see where the money is going.

Driver Says Forced To Take Trip

SCOTT CITY — An Olive Branch, Miss., man told police yesterday he was forced to drive to Scott City by a hitchhiker he picked up in White Haven, Tenn.

W.C. Bourland said he was driving his pickup truck from Olive Branch to West Memphis, Ark., when he picked up the hitchhiker. The man then stuck his hand in his pocket and ordered Bourland to drive on. Bourland said he thought the man had a gun.

When Bourland reached I-55, the man told him to drive north, until he was about one-quarter mile south of Scott City. The man then bound Bourland to the steering wheel and left him. Bourland said the man took $20 from him in Arkansas.

Bourland described the man as in his late 20s or early 30s, about six feet tall, 180 pounds, with long hair and a chest length beard, and wearing a light T-shirt and bluejeans.

Police and sheriff's offices are searching for the man.

Charge Filed In Gunplay

CHARLESTON — A charge of felonious assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon was filed Monday afternoon against Monroe Sharp, 67, of Charleston.

Sharp is accused of firing two shots from a .22 caliber rifle at Andrew Mays, 64, Charleston.

The men were reported by authorities to have argued over money Sharp owed Mays.

The incident occurred Saturday night on a South Locust Street.

Sharp will appear in magistrate court Thursday.

Shed Burns

A shed belonging to Minnie Phepps, 621 Hart St., was destroyed by fire at 7:25 p.m. last night, according to to firemen.

Apollo Faces New Problems

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A guidance system problem that temporarily locked the Apollo 16 command ship in one position was solved today, but the astronauts were awakened more than an hour early to wrestle with radio antenna trouble.

Schools Rate High, Face Problems

The Sikeston school system received an excellent rating from the North Central Evaluation Committee, but is not without its faults, according to Neil Aslin, of Columbia, who headed the committee.

The committee evaluated the high school in February. Aslin, a professor of education at the University of Missouri, discussed the report with the school board last night at the Ramada Inn.

Aslin said, the school system can be improved. It will be difficult to maintain the present standards in the future, he said.

One problem is the diversity of the student body, which ranges from the superior student to the low-intelligence student, from the academically inclined to the poorly motivated, and the division between black and white students.

"This is no criticism," Aslin said, "this is a plus." But, he added, it provides a challenge to the people who operate the program. They must find a way of developing a cement to hold these divergent groups together so the community will not disintegrate.

One of the strengths of the school system, Aslin said, is the breadth of the program — the wide range of classes and opportunities available to student but the challenge, Aslin said, will be in maintaining the excellence of the program.

He said the level of training of the teachers has deteriorated since he was last here. There are fewer teachers with masters degrees, he said, than in comparable schools elsewhere.

There has also been an erosion of support for the school among students and community, Aslin said. This he added, could spell trouble in the future.

The school facilities are very good, Aslin said, but they were built for half the number of students now attending. The result of the added students, he said, is crowding in some central facilities, such as hallways and the cafetorium. The diversity of the student body would be less of a problem, if the crowding was not so extensive, he said.

Aslin said the administrative staff is doing a remarkable job, but faces a herculean task. They are so busy with day to day problems, that they don't have the time or the energy to think about the future, he said.

A solution, Aslin said, is to add people, who will complement the staff. Those people should be able to handle some of the problems that normally burden the administrators, he said.

"We have loaded these men with so many problems, there is no way they can spend more time on instructional leadership," he said.

It is up to the school board to create a situation that will attract and maintain highly professional people within the school system, Aslin said.

He said that Sikeston has done well in the past but he doesn't know about the future.

Sam Harbin, superintendent of education, said the board has begun considering recommendations of the committee, and probably will begin acting on some of them in the near future.

"What the report tells us," he said, "is that we have a good school system, but that our problems are no worse than anywhere else."

NEIL ASLIN, of Columbia, chairman of the North Central Evaluation Committee which inspected Sikeston Schools in January, offers the school board insights into the committee's reports. Seated behind him is Board President Phil Barkett.

East Prairie Woman Slain

EAST PRAIRIE — Mrs. Lillie Braden, 60, was shot at 6:20 p. m. Monday and died two hours later of internal injuries in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Authorities are holding her former husband, Joseph W. Braden, 74, and they said a charge of first degree murder was expected to be filed today.

According to Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Mrs. Braden was in the yard of her home, 102 Lombardy Drive, when a man drove by in his automobile and fired two shots from a 30-06 rifle. She was shot once in the left hip.

Braden surrendered to authorities in city hall at 6:25 p. m. He gave no reason for the shooting.

Mrs. Robbie Helen Gregory of East Prairie, witnessed the incident, according to Simmons. She was driving by the house and saw the man point a gun out of a car window.

The body is in Shelby Funeral Home.

Mrs. Braden was born Feb. 14, 1912, in Clay County, Ark., and had lived in Mississippi county 27 years. She was a member of First Christian Church of East Prairie.

Surviving are one son, J. W. Braden, Jr., of Blytheville; one daughter, Mrs. Lola Givens, Cape Girardeau; one step sister, Mrs. Edith Woods, Maplewood; four grandchildren.

Friends may call after 5 p.m. today at Shelby Funeral Home. Services will be 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Shelby Chapel with the Rev. Orby Beard, Cape Girardeau, and the Rev. Lee Erwin, pastor of First Christian Church, East Prairie, officiating.

Burial will be in Oak Ridge Cemetery in Kennett.

Seaman Saved From Drowning

CHARLESTON — Julian Cathy, a seaman aboard a Coast Guard boat stationed at Hickman, Ky., is in good condition in Missouri Delta Community Hospital today after falling into the Mississippi River yesterday.

Cathy said he slipped and fell into the river, struck the bottom of the boat and was knocked unconscious about 6 p.m. near Buffalo Island. Three other crewmen on the boat, Bill Creacy, Dwight Young, and Glen Phillips, pulled him from the water. The Coast Guard vessel was working among buoys.

He was brought ashore at the Semo Grain Elevator in Charleston and taken to the hospital by ambulance. Attendants reported Cathy went into shock, stopped breathing, and required artificial resuscitation.

Council Hears Of Truck

DEXTER — Fire Chief Al Banken reported to the City Council Monday night on progress of the new fire truck being built and said it should be finished by July. Before then he will go to Springfield for a final inspection.

The council approved an ordinance providing the street on the north side of South Main, running from Walnut to Locust, will be designated as a fire lane and parking will be prohibited, except for fire and police vehicles.

A letter from Harry Jennings of the housing authority board requested the council approve Bill Bailiff as prospective board member to replace Howard Hill. The council approved the request.

The board agreed to purchase new signs for police cars and to pay for summer uniforms for policemen.

Mayor Willis Conner read a letter from the city's liability insurance company reporting two persons have sued the city in the past year due to falls on sidewalks. Because of these claims, the policy is subject to cancellation if additional suits, are filed.

Alderman James Williams was appointed to study Dexter sidewalks and repairs needed and to report to the council by May 10.

3 Quit Diehlstadt Police Department

DIEHLSTADT — Chief of Police Grover Morrow and Deputies Bobby Chappell and Kenneth Belt resigned from their posts as volunteer policemen last night after a meeting of the town board in which L.C. Allen, 80, member of the board, was elected chief of police.

Mayor Paul Norman said today a majority of the board, including Allen, James Howard and Lawrence Burton, did not approve of Morrow, also a board member, as chief of police and maintained a town as small as Diehlstadt did not need a three-man police force.

Norman said Morrow, Chappel and Belt have served as volunteers with no pay, have furnished their own cars and have not been reimbursed for mileage.

"Every community, large or small," Norman said, "should have law enforcement and city ordinances have to be enforced. But with the situation as it is, we may be forced to take the issue to the people."

Grocery Store Changes Hands

BENTON -- Monroe and Marie Bollinger sold the M & M Grocery Store, route 77, east of Benton, to Lola Mae Holland and Ann Hagar, both of Morley.

The Bollingers owned and operated the store six years.

The new owners will rename the store the H & H Grocery. They took over operations Monday.

Rotary Fetes Birthday With Growth Challenge

The Rotary Club was challenged to future growth last night in a celebration of its 25th anniversary devoted mostly to recollection.

The challenge came from the club's first president, Dr. Frank Sisson, a Phoenix chiropractor and past Rotary district governor.

"It is service to others that measures success," Dr. Sisson reminded more than 100 Rotarians, their wives and guests at the Ramada Inn. "Working together will assure it."

In the candle lighted room decorated with spring flowers, the speaker recalled how "25 years ago 22 men entered on an adventure in service."

Two of the 22 continue as members of the club. They are S. F. Duckworth and Chip Schmerbauch.

G. W. Allers, Flat River, was Rotary district governor then. He and his wife attended last night's banquet.

A candle lighting ceremony in the darkened room was a highlight of last night's silver anniversary observance. Spinning the Rotary wheel backward, Dr. Sisson gave the names of each club president and told about projects during the administration of each. A candle was lighted by Club President Pat Jones for each.

"Increasing the tax base for Sikeston, which then had a population of 10,000, was the club's first project," the speaker recalled of 1946-47.

Dog Problems On Rise In New Madrid

NEW MADRID — Dogs and garbage were the main topic of discussion at the city council meeting Monday night.

In a summary of dog catcher activities over 17 months the council noted that 1,032 stray dogs had been destroyed and an average of nearly 60 per month with no apparent decrease in dogs running loose.

The annual licensing and vaccinations of dogs last week produced only 183 dogs and in past years more than 300 were licensed.

The council decided that many dog owners were failing to comply with the license law and that unlicensed dogs would be picked up and owners fined.

Delbert Brown and Don Mattingly of Conran presented the board with a proposal for a contract for trash and garbage disposal which would comply with state and federal regulations. The plan called for a charge of $2.50 per month for residential and $3.50 per month for business owners with the trash and garbage being picked up once each week at residences and twice weekly at businesses.

The proposal was tabled by the board for future consideration.

In other business, the council authorized a letter to the Federal Communications Commission requesting two radio licenses for use at the power plant and the adjacent port of New Madrid.

May 8-13 was set for the annual pitch-in cleanup week.

A request by Sam Hedgepeth that an electrical guy wire at the rear of his office be relocated to allow room for parking space was approved.

Payments totaling $790,320.63 for a power plant construction were approved. Construction payrolls for $194,917.70 for April 7 and $189,112.75 for April 14 were approved.

Subdivision On Agenda

The city planning and zoning commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Administrative Building on North New Madrid.

The agenda includes a proposed subdivision north of Murray Lane between Keith-McCord and Clayton subdivisions.

Two Arrests

Police today announced two arrests, both on charges of public intoxication:

Beal Will Head Delta Council Drive

Clem Beal

Clem Beal, vice president of the Bank of Sikeston, has been named chairman of Missouri Delta Council's membership and nominating committee by the board of directors.

He said that the campaign would be in two areas. The already formed five-county area of Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Scott would enter into a campaign stage with an organizational stage in Cape Girardeau, Bollinger, Butler, Ripley and Stoddard. The campaign in the latter five-county areas scheduled to peak prior to the first annual meeting scheduled in Kennett, during June.

State Joins Ozark Region

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes announced Monday the entire state of Missouri now is a part of the Ozarks economic development region, eligible for federal development funds.

In the past 44 southern and southwestern Missouri counties were included in the region along with some counties in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The other states have discussed a request that their entire states be included in the development region but have not made a formal application, Hearnes said.

He made the request for Missouri to the secretary of commerce with the approval of the other governors in the region. In addition, the four governors have invited the states of Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana to join Ozarks economic development region.

Howardville Okays Bonds

HOWARDVILLE -- Voters Monday unanimously approved two sewer bond issues totaling $81,000 by a vote of 221.

Ward one voters cast 124 ballots, and ward two tallied 97.

The approved proposals are for issuance of $7,000 general obligation bonds and $74,000 revenue bonds to construct and equip sewer system, including treatment plant, land purchase and sewage lagoon.

A federal grant has been approved for $121,000 to aid in the cost of a new $202,000 system.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

IT'S NOT ENOUGH,
MR. PRESIDENT

In response to a plea that President Nixon intervene on behalf of the captive nations while he is in Moscow, a "canned" reply is being sent out by the White House; a reply not from the President, but from the U. S. Department of State.

The form letter reply assures the recipient that "We strongly disapprove of the gestures by Soviet and other Communist regimes on religious groups to prevent the practice and growth of religion ... Official anti-religious attitudes have not eased in the past years ... We believe that private groups and individuals have an important role to play in publicizing the plight of Christians in Communist countries."

Which is all very well; we, too, think that it is important for folks here in the U.S.A. to publicize the persecution of religion throughout the Soviet empire. And it is gratifying to know that the State Department "strongly dissapprove," although it is puzzling that they should substitute a mamby-pamby term, "pressures," for ruthless persecution. And it is most encouraging that our government apparently has not been fooled by Soviet propaganda alleging that they have "eased" their anti-religious campaigns.

But that's not enough, Mr. Nixon. People have been writing, asking that you intervene directly, while you are in Moscow, in behalf of those suffering persecution for religious beliefs behind the iron curtain. The packaged response is not a reply, it is an evasion of the question.

If you have written to the President, do so again; if you have not, do so now. Ask him for a specific answer to a specific question; "Will you, on behalf of the American people, convey to the Soviet dictators the grave concern we have for our fellows in faith in Communist countries; Will you ask that they be allowed to hold their worship services in peace, that they be allowed to print and possess the Scriptures in their native languages, and that they not be persecuted for worshiping and praising God."

Letters to the President do count. Your letters help him to know of your wishes and what you want him to do. That's the way a free country works.

Governor Hearnes has added another block to the successful passage of the bond issue which he is advocating to build transportation in Kansas City and St. Louis and airports. I believe that it's a terrible mistake for him to try to take the gas tax money for that purpose. He had an opportunity to sign a 2 cent a gallon gas tax bill and he vetoed it. Of course, he realizes now that it was a mistake to veto it, but that's the way he is and I don't know whether I will scold him or not, but I think he is advocating a failure.

BRADLEY
BOWS OUT

Very likely Bill Bradley will be off to a better start in Missouri politics by not running for state treasurer than by running, especially if he follows his announced plan to campaign for the Democratic slate. Mr. Bradley would have come into the campaign too late and with too little experience in state affairs; moreover, he would face a good Democratic candidate in James Spainhower. As a former all-state athlete, Rhodes schol[illegible]d now a professional basketball star, Mr. Brad[illegible] not unknown in his native state, and his education and intefest should serve him well in politics in the future. THEY MUST LEARN
TO USE WORDS

We are not among those who are constantly critical of our schools because we have great respect for the dedicated teachers who must deal with both the eager learner and the dullard in classes. But ask any businessman who hires them, and chances are he will tell you that too many public school graduates can't spell, know little if anything about grammar, and are unable to write simple sentences.

Although we've felt some stories we've heard are somewhat exaggerated, now some facts and figures are available. They were put together by professional investigators of the National Assessment of Educational Progress at the request of some concerned parents and businessmen.

Kenneth Rabben, a Copley education writer, in analyzing the study, wrote: "There's a fantastic lack of knowledge of spelling, grammar, punctuation, and word choice and order among members of the four groups tested – 9, 13, 17 -year olds, and adults from 26 to 35."

A part of the test included writing brief themes, or essays. About 29 per cent of the adults refused to take part in this exercise. Sixty per cent of those who did made spelling errors. But 61 per cent of their papers were free of word choice errors.

The study shows that the few adults able to produce high-quality written English owe it more to reading newspapers and advertising than classroom instruction.

Over 70 per cent of the teenagers produced misspellings. More than half chose incorrect words. They employed only the most commonplace expressions and usage.

Nine-year-olds "showed almost no mastery of basic writing mechanics," the judges reported.

Obviously some drastic steps by the educational establishment are called for.

On the other hand, we suspect that the majority of deficiencies exposed in the study were recorded by crowded urban schools where teaching of late has been difficult -- and hazardous.

What America owes to our youngsters is a sound basic education in the effective use of their own language.

A LITTLE PEEK-A-BOO
AT SEX

Now we know. Sex reared its ugly head in the world about one billion years ago.

Dr. J. William Schopf, a 30-year-old geology professor and paleobiologist with the University of California. Los Angeles, bases the claim on his investigations of fossilized plants found in rocks in central Australia.

The feelings of women liberationists notwithstanding, he ranks the beginning of sexual processes on earth second in importance only to the beginning of life itself two billion years or so earlier.

The first reproductive process on nature's evolutionary ladder was mitosis, in which a parent cell divides itself into two daughter cells identical to the parent.

In the later process, meiosis, involving the combination of male and female cells, the sexually produced offspring has a genetic make-up different from that of either parent but combining traits of both.

Meiosis provided the basis for a huge number of new genetic recombinations. Natural selection enabled the rapid spread of advantageous mutations, leading to the evolution of our present diversity of plant and animal life.

Some plant and lower animal forms still reproduce by means of mitosis. But, genetically at least, it is a rather monotonous method, says Schopf.

LASER IS LIFT
FOR TEXTILES

A new development in the textile industry offers dramatic proof of how it is only through increased productivity and ability to win customers, not through protective tariffs, that American manufacturers will be able to compete against foreign rivals.

The development is the use of the laser to cut fabric for ready-to-wear garments. Guided by a computer, the beam is used to vaporize a single layer of cloth on a conveyor belt, resulting in a cleaner cut than is made by a knife.

Under present methods, a knife is used to cut as many as 100 layers of cloth at a time. But cutting accuracy lessens with many layers. Cloth is wasted, increasing material costs.

By cutting one layer at [illegible]me in rapid-fire order, not only does the laser increase efficiency but it promises to make it possible for manufacturers to provide customer-ordered materials and styles in quantities as small as one and still make a profit. This should mean greater job security for the 1.5 million workers in the textile industry, as well as better clothes for the consumer.

Cooking cabbage just a short time is the secret for success. Cabbage should be cooked in a small amount of boiling salted water. Shredded cabbage will take only 3 to 10 minutes; quarters take 10 to 15 minutes. Leave the cover off the first two minutes of cooking time and cover to finish cooking. In this way, cabbage will be thoroughly cooked, will be a good green color and will have very little odor.

CHICAGO (AP) — A recent study showed the Chicago driver sits in traffic jams longer than motorists of any other city.

Besides the usual reason—repairs, accidents and bad weather—there are a number of phenomena that exist with increasing irritation on all expressways.

They include the gaper's block. This phenomenon occurs with frustrating frequency in Chicago. It usually occurs when the driver is already late for work or dinner but the lanes are open and traffic is zipping right along.

Suddenly, the lines begin to slow. The weather is perfect, the motorist reasons, and the road repairs were completed last year. It must be a bad accident or a temporary delay.

A half-hour and a quartermile later, the motorist reaches a point where two cars with nicked fenders are parked on the apron. A police car is behind them and the blue light is attracting gapers.

Sometimes, there is nothing. A quick glance at the traffic piling up in the other direction lets the driver know that the fender-bender occurred in the opposite lanes.

Then there is the crawling cop.

The crawling cop usually drives in the center lane at 45 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Only bold motorists positive their speedometers are accurate dare pass the patrol. For everyone who passes, three hesitate. Before long the lanes are backed up and somewhere a mile back some driver is wondering how the traffic can be so bad at 10 p.m.

Finally, the crawling cop slips into an exit ramp and those bringing up the rear at 30 miles an hour never know why they were a half-hour late getting home.

Finally, there is the exact change toll booth dilemma.

There is first of all the feeling of worthlessness that overwhelms the driver who pulls up to the exact change booth and discovers he has no exact change. This leads to his sheepish appearance in front of a line of glowing chrome grills as he walks across to the manned booths.

Secondly, there is the driver who didn't know he was heading for the exact change booth and makes a sudden 90-degree sweep across six lanes.

The most mind-boggling of the toll booth dilemmas is the driver who lets his child fling the change from the back window. Invariably he winds up crawling under the car looking for the dimes that didn't hit the basket.

EXPORT MARKET
HURT BY FEDERAL
RESTRICTIVE ACTION

The decline in U. S. technological pre-eminence in many industrial fields points up the need for a "new form of government-industry partnership," according to the National Association of Manufacturers.

Dr. Willard M. Bright, testifying for the NAM as chairman of its Science-Technology Committee, before a House subcommittee, said such a partnership would help counteract the increasing foreign competition faced by America industry.

Antitrust Questioned -- Dr. Bright, who is president and chief executive officer of the Kendall Company, Boston, told the subcommittee that "the zeal of antitrust practices and threats in this country must delight our competitors abroad who do not labor under similar handicaps."

The NAM witness said that government-industrial cooperation in Japan for example, is "an economic strength that permits its technology to develop in a protected home market and to be advantageously exported as products and as technology."

"A similar program should be examined for the United States," he said, "perhaps in combination with less antitrust activity."

Prices Hurt Exports -- Dr. Bright said that the advantage provided American industry by the nation's technological sophistication is threatened by rising prices and wages. "Our greatest international asset has been weakened at the bargaining table by the pressure on costs," he said.

Foreign imports are making it unprofitable to maintain production in many U. S. factories, he pointed out, adding that when this happens "jobs go out the window."

Dr. Bright said that imports are fine "as long as our government is successful in gaining agreements that we can enter foreign markets on a more equitable basis."

MATTER OF ECONOMICS

Ostensibly, the primary purpose of legislating major changes in the federal tax laws is to establish greater equity in the tax system. The idea is to avoid excessive taxation of any segment of taxpayers while unduly favoring others. Largely, through a misunderstanding of this basic principle of taxation, proposals have been made to increase the taxes levied against the U. S. petroleum industry. The facts do not justify such an increased levy.

Some of these facts are stressed in a statement by Mr. Frank N. Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute. They show that in 1966, the total domestic taxes on the oil industry's earnings, operations and property were nearly $2.5 billion -- an increase of $500 million over the previous year. This did not include gasoline or other petroleum product taxes, which amounted to another $8 billion. The petroleum industry's direct tax bill amounts to about 5.1 cents tax for every dollar of revenue. As to profits, the after-tax earnings in the oil industry average 10.1 per cent of invested capital. For all manufacturing, these after-tax earnings amounted to 10.8 per cent.

IT is clear the petroleum industry is no favored taxpayer. In Mr. Ikard's words, if the industry's taxes are increased thru cutting or eliminating such tax law provisions as percentage depletion: "The costs of both the raw materials and the products made from petroleum would be higher. It's a simple matter of economics that the increased costs would have to be passed on to the consumer."

PICK YOUR
GRAVY TRAIN

After four months of research, a member of Congress inserted in the Congressional Record a listing of federal assistance programs of one kind or another -- all 1,315 of them. As the congressman noted, his is probably the most complete list of federal programs ever compiled, but he says "...I have reason to believe that another 100 to 200 programs exist..." As a result of his research, the congressman has proposed a "Program Information Act" which would require the President to publish an annual catalog of all federal aid programs and update it monthly. By the time the average citizen perused the catalog to find out which gravy train was best suited to his needs, he would likely be past help of any kind. However, from the standpoint of a taxpayer, such a catalog might indeed be helpful -- as a guide to just how a womb to tomb welfare state operates -- and why it costs so much.

DEBT FEEDS INFLATION

Much to do is being made about rising prices, and rightfully so, but the wrong culprit is feeling the lash. The farmers and ranchers who grow our food are not the cause of inflation and the resulting rise in prices. Neither are the supermarket profits, which vary from 2 % to less than 1 % on sales. We are paying less percentagewise for our food than ever before, as wages and other costs continue to mushroom.

For those whose income does not climb in proportion to the inflation, the burden grows ever more wearisome. The chief cause of the burden is inflation of money and credit, which has damaged the value of every dollar each person earns or saves. The chief cause of inflation is the skyrocketing public debt.

The U.S. government is in debt by a staggering $425 billion, a sum so huge as to have little meaning to the human mind. Our debt is $87 billion more than all the other 131 nations' debts combined.

Just about half the U.S. public debt, or $212.9 billion, can be attributed to foreign aid, including interest on what was borrowed to give away, between the years 1946 and 1971. Office-holders and office-seekers promise to cut foreign aid and lead us to believe it is down to virtually nothing. Not so. During the year of 1972 at least 98 nations will be getting some of the $24.5 billion authorized and in the "pipeline" for foreign aid. Our diplomats have never bought a single friend with all these billions. Much of the money has actually been used against us. It is past time to stop this foolish waste. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A few months ago, the Air Force brass decided it wanted Joe Alsop, the famed columnist and friend of generals, to write a friendly story.

Orders went down to the Pentagon garage for a military staff car, complete with escort officer, to pick up Alsop, take him where he wanted to go and give him "VIP" treatment.

Regulations forbid the use of Pentagon cars except "in the actual performance of official duties" by military personnel. No one is to be chauffeured around on personal business.

Yet Alsop's free ride was nothing unusual, despite the apparent violation of regulations. The Pentagon's auto fleet has become a fabulously expensive, 24-hour chauffeur service for the military bigwigs and their buddies.

Probably the most chauffeured man in Washington is the bald eminence of the Pentagon, Defense Secretary Mel Laird, who not only keeps a gleaming Cadillac at the ready but also demands another rented limousine as a back-up car.

The rental car sits in the motor pool day after day in case something goes wrong with the official limousine. In this event, emergency measures are taken to assure that Laird will not be subjected to the indignity of riding in a common taxicab. While the regular Cadillac is being repaired, the Pentagon panjandrum rides in the back-up car, and still another plush car is rented to serve as the back-up limousine for the back-up limousine.

Laird is driven about by black-uniformed civilian chauffeurs who earn so much overtime waiting for him that one of them almost reached Laird's financial bracket. A Pentagon bookkeeper told us the chauffeur earned $36,000 after all the overtime had been added up for one recent year.

--LAIRD'S CHEESE RUN--

Another important service the Pentagon motor pool performs for Laird occurs each year at Christmastime. For days, several staff sedans make the rounds of official Washington deliverying packages of Christmas cheese to friends and associates of the big cheese himself.

A staff sedan was also used last December to pick up Jack Mills, a tobacco lobbyist, to haul him home for his clothes and rush him to Andrews Air Force base so he could join Laird on an all-expense paid junket to the Caribbean.

Mills explained that Laird is an old friend and "trusts" him and enjoys his company. "It was a treat for me to be with a great man," Mills told my associate Brit Hume.

Last Christmas, the motor pool also dispatched an Army van to Ft. Belvoir, Va., to pick up a special Christmas tree for the Army Chief, jut-jawed Gen. William Westmoreland, who is a stickler for regulations except when they affect him. The seats were removed from the van so that the tree would not be pushed out of shape during the trip.

The heavy traffic at the motor pool has created a shortage of available cars. The Pentagon's response has been not to buy more cars at the huge official discount, but to rent extra cars at $15 a day.

Last year, the bill for car rentals in the Pentagon motor pool came to more than $42,000. Many of the rental cars are Cadillacs and Chryslers, and the rental agencies don't like them to be run on regular gas. The Pentagon obligingly operates the motor pool strictly on high-test gas.

--$2 MILLION
GAS BILL--

Regular gas is bought in such huge quantities by the military, it costs only about a dime a gallon. But the high-test is purchased almost nowhere in the armed forces except for the Pentagon; therefore, the discount is much smaller. Result: it is twice as expensive. Using high-octane instead of regular last year cost the taxpayers about $2 million.

Meanwhile, despite the extravagant waste, the abuse of the limousine fleet continues unabated. Civilian officials are just as insensitive to regulations as the brass hats themselves.

"Personnel will not be authorized to use government-owned vehicles for trips between home or places of duty and Dulles or Friendship Airports," the regulations say.

Yet, Deputy Air Force Undersecretary Robert Naka, for example, was met at Dulles Airport by a military car after flying in from Los Angeles last December 14.

The same day, Edward Sheridan, a deputy assistant defense secretary, was picked up at home and taken to Dulles Airport. He acknowledged he had made the trip in a military car on other occasions.

For special occasions, the line-up of Pentagon glory wagons is enough to take a taxpayer's breath away. A parade of 57 rented limousines transported an army of big brass to the last Army-Navy game. And a grant total of 400 Pentagon cars were rented for $15 a day to whisk all the brass hats to the sundry soiree during the 1968 inaugural.

The military brass have come a long way since they were issued streetcar tokens for transportation back before World War II.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Meany Smokes Again: labor's high command summoned to plan tough national action early in May

WASHINGTON — Smoke now is spurting from George Meany's cigars as well as his rhetoric. He's back in fighting shape. The other night the labor chief of chiefs said Phase Two reminded him of the balcony scene from Mussolini and the Piazza Venezia. Certainly not from Romeo and Juliet, judging from his mood. So he's hammering at the White House as prelude to another open offensive to smash the new seven-man public Pay Board.

There appears even to be a timetable for action. And the front will be the waterfront. Anything could happen. There could be a chain reaction from here to Moscow via New York and on the Far East via San Francisco.

Waterfronts watchers know that the key to President Nixon's trade summitry with the Soviets is really one man, the continent-hopping bantam Ted Gleason, president of the strategic International Longshoremen's Assn., (AFL—CIO).

"Teddy" not only is peacock proud of being one of the newest of national AFL-CIO vice presidents, he is "with Meany all the way." That solidarity could freeze most of the nation's ports solid-from the Great Lakes grain-loading ports and right on down the Mississippi as well as along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts . And you don't fly grain and soy beans, you "tanker" them. If no ships move, no $200 million a year grain deal with Moscow.

And Gleason wants much of it to cross the ocean in U.S. Freighters. The Soviets have other ideas. So the Longshoremen are a powerful private foreign policy force with which to reckon -- and consult. For days now since the return of Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz -- who believes labor should get itself some new leaders and has said so loud and clear -- Gleason and colleagues have been awaiting word from Henry Kissinger, or the other State Dept.

The union did hear, however, from another branch of government with which Meany hardly is enamored -- the Pay Board.

That's the crunch. The Board wants Gleason or some of his experts to come in April 21 and discuss their new contract which calls for a 14.9 per cent- wage-cost hike during the first year. The union says it's really about 7 per cent because its pier "gangs" now work 1,000 per cent swifter -- loading 300 tons an hour where once they trundled 30 tons in.

After the closed-door Pay Board conference will come a public hearing at 10 a.m. May 2 in the Commerce Dept. auditorium. Not all the drama is set there. For Meany has called the AFL-CIO's Executive Council for a two day session with the curtain rise scheduled for the same hour as the waterfront hearing across town. And the Longshoremen's high command is due to meet on May 5.

Nothing may happen. Just a lot of hot words flipped off the skillet towards the White House. The Pay Board may simply say Gleason is right and the union is entitled to its 14.9 per cent increase -- a figure which has been rejected by ultra left-wing West Coast dockers' boss Harry Bridges.

If so, Gleason and his dockwallopers will live happily ever after -- until the next contract.

But if the Pay Board shaves Gleason's bid, the smoke will pour more furiously from Meany's cigar and statements. Anything can happen. The nation's waterfronts will be struck. Since "Teddy" always is called on to whip up a sympathy strike to help other unions, he has many IOUs out. And he might call them in -- and unions elsewhere may walk out in sympathy along with the Western Dockers in strategy.

No one truly can estimate the cost of a long all-port maritime stoppage. The other night I got some figures on the losses suffered during the long, two-part West Coast dockers strike. These statistics must be solid. They came from that former hod carrier, my good friend Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

The strike cost in just 24 Western ports alone ran well over $2 billion.

"The losses in port service industries directly involved in the dispute," said Volpe, "were in the area of $8 million a week.

"The loss to the shipping industry was estimated at $3 million a week and the loss to the inland transportation companies, $5 million per week. Greater losses appeared in the wholesale and retail trade sectors -- $29 million per week -- and in the industrial and agricultural sectors of the economy --$48 million per week."

Volpe's figures for the 134-day strike appear to be the most valid -- but they don't include the aftermath. And it's just a hint of what could come if both unions close all ports. Then the showdown would come -- with the White House, with the Congress and no doubt with the public -- for the strike and counter strategy would become one of the crackling issues of the Presidential campaign.

What's The Law

Driver Takes Rap For Cow Behavior

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Mabel, a cow, was tired of chauvinistic bulls and just giving milk. What she really wanted was her freedom and the open road. Unfortunately, the open road she chose to roam was the same one on which Herbie was skylarking with his girl friend Doris.

Meeting head-on with Herbie's car, Mabel got the worse of the collision. As though she had been struck by a haymaker, the hayeater sank to the pavement unconscious.

As Herbie ran off for help, leaving his girl friend Doris standing perplexed on the side of the road, Mabel slowly began to come to. And, realizing how frought with unexpected dangers was the open road, she made a frantic dash for the security of her nearby pasture. In doing so, however, she shoved perplexed Doris into a deep gully. Badly hurt, she sued Herbie for the injuries.

"If he hadn't struck the cow in the first place," she complained in court," "I wouldn't have been dumped into the gully in the second place."

"That's ridiculous!" was Herbie's answer. "Sure I struck the cow. But , certainly, it 's not my fault it ran into Doris. After all, I can't be held responsible for the behavior of a discontended cow."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Herbie liable for Doris's being struck by the discontented cow?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the direct cause of Doris's injuries was due to Herbie's negligence; that it was a reasonable and probably reaction on Mabel's part to want to leave the scene of the accident as soon as possible. Her nasty departure, concluded the judge, was Herbie's responsibility. (Based upon a 1947 Wisconsin Supreme Court Decision)

Missouri Ban On ParochiaidUpheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday unanimously upheld the Missouri Constitution's ban on state aid to church-related schools.

The provision had been attacked by a group of families from the St. Louis area who said "secular humanism and "irreligion"] were being established in the public schools by eliminating references to God and religion.

The parents suggested that Missouri adopt a "tuition voucher" plan under which the state would provide assistance to the parents of children attending accredited private schools.

Turning down the appeal, the court affirmed a decision by a three-judge federal court in St. Louis approving the ban on state aid.

The St. Louis family had contended Missouri was inhibiting the right of "Under the present situation, those who choose nonpublic school education are in fact subsidizing those who choose public schools," the appeal said. "They contribute to the support of the public schools through the taxes they pay, thereby decreasing the burden on those choosing public schools."

children in church schools to exercise their freedom of religion.

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word to the grandmother who said she was tired of telephone calls from her grandchildren that went like this: "Just a minute, Grammy, the dog wants to talk to you." Then the dog would bark and the kids would giggle and Grammy was left hanging. Finally she concluded that the kids had left the phone and gone to play somewhere else.

I'm a Grammy, too, and I laughed when I read that column because I've had similar telephone calls. I've talked to dolls, listened to cats meow, and kissed skinned knees through the receiver to make them well. I've stood patiently while the kids dragged the fish tank to the phone so I could hear it gurgle. I've turned off the stew and listened to essays, original poems and piano recital numbers.

I love it when my daughter calls me and I hear one of the children shout, "If it's Grammy let me talk!" What a compliment to know that they delight in sharing their world with me! I wouldn't take a million dollars for those crazy phone calls.---Grandmas Are For Listening

Dear Gram: Thank you for a real heart-warmer. I've never been asked to listen to a fish tank, but I can tell you from personal knowledge just what a hamster sounds like on the phone!

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column someone wrote in about smokers who make life miserable for non-smoking co-workers. The person who wrote lives in Washington, D. C. and works for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In your reply you said new regulations to H. E. W. set up a special smoking area in the cafeteria and prohibited smoking in conference rooms, the auditorium, etc. You also said, "You can kiss Secretary Elliot Richardson for this one."

I have seen pictures of Elliot Richardson and he's quite attractive. Is he married? Do you know him well enough to give millions of people permission to kiss him? Please reply in print. The girls in the Pentagon are eager to know. ---File Cabinet Fillies

Dear Fillies: I have met Elliot Richardson. He is married and I withdraw the suggestion.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 24. I spent the first 21 years of my life in total hell because of my father. He is mentally deranged -- a split personality. I never knew when he would turn from a sweet, lovable person to a cruel, savage beast. He used to hit my mother for no reason, throw things at me, and I'm sure he tortured our pets although no one could ever prove it. It's a miracle that I didn't lose my mind when my mother died of leukemia. I was 17 at the time.

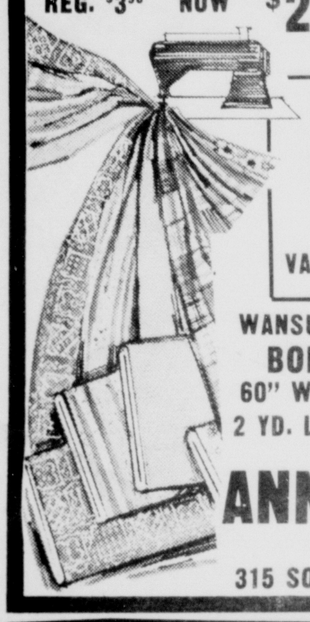

I was 20 when I met John. It was almost a story-book romance the way he rescued me from a lunatic father -- like a true knight in shining armor. We've been married nearly three years and have a dear little girl. The problem is that my mother -in- law keeps asking me why I don't invite my father over for Sunday supper. She can't understand why I don't include him in family or social affairs. Ann, I simply can't bring myself to tell her the truth. I'm scared to death of my father. He makes me physically ill. I don't want to be around him or have him near my little family. Lately my mother -in- law has been pressing. Please tell me what to say to her. I hate to be disloyal or sound dramatic. Help me please. -- B. In Nashville

Dear B.: You do not owe your mother -in- law an explanation. Simply evade the issue and change the subject. If she persists, simply tell her you have your reasons and you'd rather not discuss it.

What's the story on pot, LSD, cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful?

Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope On Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

IMPROVING WITH AGE

The Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association have the league's most experienced team, with Squire players averaging 4.0 years of pro competition. Defending champion Utah is second with a 3.5-year average.

PRODUCTIVE SOURCES

North Carolina and Kentucky each have four graduates playing in the ABA, the top figure for any college. Arizona State, Portland, Kansas, New Mexico, Brigham Young, LaSalle and Drake all have three players apiece in the league.

Cards Beat Bad Luck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Would you believe the St. Louis Cardinals could win a game in which Lou Brock was picked off in successive innings for the first time in his career, in which Joe Torre was forced out by an injury and in which the opposing pitcher belted a home run?

Al Santorini believes it, even though he probably has to pinch himself to fully realize that he picked up his first major league victory since April 13, 1970.

Monday's hard-earned triumph, 5-4 over Philadelphia, was the Cardinals' first of the young seata$i,o2ter two one-run setbacks. Elsewhere on an abbreviated major league baseball schedule, Houston whipped San Francisco 7-2, Los Angeles trounced Atlanta 8-3, Baltimore blanked the New York Yankees 4-0 and Cleveland zeroed Boston 4-0.

Santorini, the fifth St. Louis pitcher, came on in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, one out and the Cards nursing a 5-3 lead. He got a bad break when first baseman Donn Clendenon dropped pinch hitter Roger Freed's pop foul but the 24-year-old right-hander recovered to strike out Freed.

Larry Bowa's sharp single made the score 5-4 and left the bases jammed but Santorini retired Tim McCarver on a grounder to second for the final out. Santorini had a 1-8 record with San Diego in 1970, was 0-4 with the Padres and Cards last year and was tagged with the loss in the 1972 opener on Saturday.

"It's been a long time," sighed Santorini, but the victory was doubly sweet—his family came down from Union, N.J., and it was his father's birthday.

Brock, the Cards' inimitable base-stealer, was embarrassed in the first and second innings by Woodie Fryman, who picked him off both times. And Clendenon, in addition to his potentially damaging error, was run down trying to score from first base on a single by Jose Cruz in the first inning.

The Cards prevailed, despite all that adversity plus Fryman's second career home run, when Ed Crosby, Torre's replacement, greeted reliever Joe Hoerner with a leadoff single in the top of the ninth and Ted Simmons doubled him home with the tie-braker. Simmons eventually scored what proved to be the winning run on Dal Maxvill's sacrifice fly.

Torre aggravated a strained muscle in his lower back suffered in Sunday's game against Montreal.

A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants on their way to a repeat of their early 1971 runaway. After trimming Houston twice and grabbing a 2-0 lead Monday night on pitcher John Cumberland's fifth-inning single, they faltered and lost.

Doug Rader tied the score for the Astros in their half of the inning with a two-run homer and they took the lead in the sixth on run-scoring singles by Lee May and Bob Watson. May singled another run across before Rader cracked a two-run triple.

Two-run homers by Willie Davis and Manny Mota powered Los Angeles over Atlanta, which is having the pitching problems most experts predicted. Davis drove in a third run with an infield hit and Bill Singer, facing live hitters for the first time since March 12, hurled four perfect innings. He was bothered only by Darrell Evans' homer.

Brooks Robinson and winning pitcher Dave McNally rapped run-scoring doubles as Baltimore broke a scoreless game with three runs in the seventh and downed the Yankees. McNally, bidding for his fifth 20-game season, tossed a fourhitter.

Paul Blair opened the seventh with a single off Fritz Peterson and scored on Robinson's double as right fielder Rusty Torres fell down. McNally doubled the second run across and scored himself on Don Buford's single.

Milt Wilcox fired a two-hitter and Tom McCraw greeted reliever Bill Lee with a three-run homer in Cleveland's win over Boston. Wilcox, obtained from Cincinnati in an off-season trade, was locked in a scoreless battle with Ray Culp when Alex ohnson and Graig Nettles singled with two out in the eighth inning. Lee came in to face McCraw—lefty vs. lefty, you know—and McCraw pulled a 1-2 pitch

MONDAY'S STARS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BATTING—Doug Rader, Astros, drove in four runs with a homer and triple in Houston's 7-2 victory over San Francisco.

PITCHING—Milt Wilcox, Indians, blanked Boston on two hits 4-0, striking out eight.

Croy Stars

MORLEY — The Advance Hornets won their second baseball game of the season to go with one loss by downing the Scott Central Braves, 6-4, Monday afternoon.

Darrell Croy gave up three hits, walked two, hit one and struck out eight in gaining his second win against no losses.

Mike Pobst took the loss for the Braves. The Braves pounded the hurler for nine safeties.

The Hornets took a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Braves fought back in the frame to take the lead, 2-1. Scott Central added another run to its lead in the third.

Advance tied the score 3-3 in the fourth but Scott Central quickly gained back the lead 4-3 in the bottom of the inning.

Scott Central didn't have the pitching to hold the Hornets. Advance took the lead by scoring two runs in the fifth. The Hornets added an insurance run in the seventh.

John Avance of Scott Central and Dennis Dunavan of Advance had doubles for the only extra base hits.

Error Costly

CLARKTON — The Reindeer took advantage of a misplayed pop fly in the eighth to beat the Parma Pirates Monday afternoon in baseball, 3-2.

Wendy Wagner joined in a pitching duel with Dennis Duffell and Danny Stoelting. He was the victim of bad fielding and took the loss. Stoelting, who relieved Duffell in the fourth, was the winner.

Mike Garrard belted a home run in the fourth to get the Pirates out in front, 1-0. Clarkton came back in the sixth and scored two runs to take the lead on a two- run homer by Phil Delong. Parma tied the game in the seventh. Clarkton scored the winning run in the eighth when the pop fly was misplayed with the bases loaded and two out.

Chuck Bailey smashed two hits in three times at bat to lead the Reindeer. Garrard had two hits and scored both runs for Parma.

Baseball Tryouts

City baseball season openers are around the corner and Junior Babe Ruth Baseball President Arthur Bruce has called for tryouts tonight at VFW stadium at 7 p.m. for 13-15 year olds.

A 13- year- old all-star team will compete in the state tournament at Chaffee, Bruce said. Any 13-year- old who fails to make tryouts Monday may attend tonight's session.

OHS Unbeaten

BELL CITY — Jim Edmondson fired a two-hitter at the Cubs to give Coach Joe Scott's Oran Eagles a 4-1 win and the Eagles a 4-0 record for the year Monday afternoon.

The Eagles put together five hits to score their runs. Tropf and Britton got the hits for the Cubs.

Oran scored one run in the first and added another in the second. The Eagles added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth and Bell City scored its lone run in the seventh on two hits.

Edmondson is 1-0 for the year. Alenson took the loss for the Cubs.

Rams Show Power

SCOTT CITY — The Rams unleashed their most powerful baseball hitting attack of the season Monday in downing the East Prairie Eagles, 18-1.

The Eagles managed to get only one hit off Joe Hanschen in the first inning when they scored their lone run to lead briefly 1-0.

The Rams went to work on Larry Band, the Eagle hurler in the first plating three runs. The Rams added their fourth run in the second. The third inning proved to be a nightmare for the Eagles. The Rams had a merry-go-round going for awhile, scoring 10 times before the side could be retired. Leading, 14-1, the Rams crossed the plate four more times in the fourth.

I-SC had five men with two hits apiece in the game. Each team played its entire squad. The Rams entertain the Chaffee Red Devils Thursday afternoon.

Schoendienst Schedules Workouts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals is making hurried plans for extra workouts to make up for the 13-day player strike.

"I don't care if the players get tired — we have to go all over a lot of fundamentals to make up for the work that was undone," said Schoendienst.

As the strike ended Thursday the Redbird skipper was arranging for extra training after day games and before night games during a two-week road trip which starts Monday. He said workouts also would be held on three open dates during the trip.

Schoendienst said he is seeking permission to use the rival team's parks for the extra practices. The Cardinasl would reciprocate by offering visiting teams the use of Busch Stadium, he said.

The Cardinals have two home games scheduled with the Montreal Expos this weekend. They hit the road Monday for 11 games in 14 days.

About 52 million Americans, one in every four bowled at least once last year, according to a survey conducted for the National Bowling Council

Lape Spoils No-Hitter

MATTHEWS — The Bernie Mules used superior hitting and pitching to demolish the Pirates Monday afternoon 10-0 in five innings of baseball.

Dell Walker came within a single of pitching a no-hitter. Lape spoiled his bid. Walker struck out nine Pirates and walked fine men.

Bernie socked 11 singles and the Pirates committee five errors. Bernie hit the jackpot in the third, scoring four runs and added five more in the fourth. It completed its scoring in the fifth with one run.

Wayne Griffin struck out five Mules and walked three.

Copeland Gains Medalist Honors

POPLAR BLUFF -- The Poplar Bluff golf Mules carried two double- header match Monday afternoon.

In the first match, the Mules defeated the New Madrid Indians, 160-187.

Going against Malden in the second match, the Mules downed the Greenwaves, 156-167.

Fred Copeland of New Madrid gained medalist honors in the first match with low score of 37. The remainder of the scoring for the Indians went with Clement Cravens shooting a 47, Cary Phillips following with 49, and Frank Phillips shooting a 54.

Poplar Bluff's scoring was headed by Brad Locke and David McMurray. Both shot 38s. John Pettet and Jim Hobbs followed with scores of 42 each.

In the second match the Mules' scoring was led by Locke and McMurray after both again shot low scores of 38 to gain the honor of medalists. Lynn Miller was close behind with 39, and Pete Godwin shot a 41.

Malden's achievements consisted of a leading mark of 39 shot by Ronnie Cohen. Mike Moll was running a close second with 40, with Bob Schoeppel and Greg Hampton, both shooting 44.

The Poplar Bluff Mules have a 4-1 season record.

Kegler's Korner

By HILDRED POOLE

Hello! Last week was a total disaster as far as bowling was concerned. I was completely off my mark, but maybe things will get better this week as it is the last week in both of the leagues I belong to.

Starting the 1st of April until the last week of May the largest W.I.B.C. National Bowling Tournament ever is being held in Kansas City, Mo. We have had several teams (of the more than 5,000 entered) from here that have gone or are going, You probably heard that Norma Baker rolled the first 600 series in the Singles event but we also had another distinction. As the first out of town team to bowl, Elaine Krutilla got to lead the grand march out onto the lanes to roll in the team event. It was thought that she would have to carry a flag and from information I received she was ready, just how she planned to do it must remain a mystery as she had to carry her purse in one hand and her bowling bag in the other. It must have been a very grand march with her in the lead and Norma Baker in the rear. Wish I could have been there.

KYLE, four, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene DeKriek, 317 Kramer Drive, will take part in the Appaloosa Horse Show Saturday, at the rodeo grounds. The show is sponsored by the Sikeston Junior Women's Club. The horse is owned by Burl Givens, route two. Some of the proceeds will go toward the club's project, equipment for Missouri Delta Community Hospital pediatric department.

Appaloosa Show Saturday

Big River Appaloosa Horse Club will sponsor a registered Appaloosa horse show Saturday at the Jaycee Rodeo Arena.

Forty-one classes are scheduled starting with halter classes at 10 a.m., youth classes in the afternoon, and performance classes at 6 p.m.

Judge for the show is O. J. Martens, Hutchinson, Kan. Exhibitors from five states are expected. Burl G. Givens will be show chairman.

The versatility of this colorful breed of horses will be demonstrated in a variety of classes from jumping to cutting, from western pleasure to reining, also costume class, halter classes, and stump, stake, and rope races.

All ages will compete from lead line class (riders one to six) and Jack Benny western pleasure class (39 and over).

The club is a regional one affiliated with the Appaloosa Horse Club, Inc., Moscow, Idaho. Nich Solomon, Wardell is president of Big River.

Dear Editor:

Tuesday evening, April 11, 1972, my wife and I were shopping at Penny's in Sikeston. While there, I lost my glasses and did not miss them until I was about half way home.

I called the store and requested a search to determine if the glasses could be found. After the call, I returned to the store and learned that my glasses had been found by an unidentified young lady who in turn, at the instructions of a clerk, had taken them to Station KMPL. A man with the initials of (D.D.T.) accepted the glasses, with some miss giving I am sure.

I wish to state that I sincerely appreciate the extra step these people took on behalf of a person they did not know. I certainly made my day and restored again my faith that people are good.

I will appreciate your printing this letter of gratitude.

Sincerely,
Mark L. Stoll

Tax Deadline Is Extended

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has extended the daily hours in its Missouri offices until the midnight Monday deadline for filing 1971 income tax returns.

District Director E.C. Coyle Jr., said Wednesday that all IRS offices in Missouri will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. today, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

He said the longer hours will allow taxpayers time to get assistance in preparation of the 1971 returns.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thoday is Tuesday, April 18, the 109th day of 1972. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1775, Paul Revere began his famous ride in Massachusetts to warn American colonists: "The British are coming."

On this date:

In 1847, U.S. Gen. Winfield Scott captured Cerro Gordo Hill in Mexico. It was the first point of resistance in Scott's march on Mexico City.

In 1906, an earthquake rocked San Francisco and touched off fires that nearly destroyed the city.

In 1942, in the Pacific war, U.S. bombers led by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle attacked Tokyo and other cities in Japan.

In 1945, American war correspondent Ernie Pyle was killed during fighting on an island off Okinawa.

In 1946, the League of Nations officially went out of existence.

In 1955, physicist Albert Einstein died in Princeton, N.J., at the age of 76.

Ten years ago: The United States presented a three- stage disarmament program at an international conference in Geneva.

Five years ago: South Vietnam proposed a withdrawal of troops from the demilitarized zone between South and North Vietnam to help create a climate for peace talks.

Thought for today: In the land of promise a man may die of hunger. Dutch proverb.

Your Company doesn't have to be big to belong to Blue Cross.®

Five people qualify a company for Blue Cross group membership.

So, if your company is small, you needn't worry about being able to provide your people with a realistic hospital care program. Blue Cross will do it for you.

What's more, the claims paperwork for basic programs is handled for you and won't cancel because of age or condition of health.

Blue Cross is the one hospital care program that does not put the burden on you.

You will never know what Blue Cross protection can mean for you until you check and compare.

For information on a Blue Cross group plan to suit your company needs, just call us, today.
